Marion Officials Leave To Bring Young Back for Murder Trial

DRAFT SEEN BY ROYALL IF AID PLAN IS LOST

ays Forced Military Service May Be Required as Alternative.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Secretary of the Army Royall told senators today the alternative to European recovery plan may be drafting men for military service.

Royall made the statement to the senate foreign relations committee today in response to questions from Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Senator Lodge (R-Mass).

The Army secretary testified yesterday that unless the recovery plan is accepted, the Army and its budget will have to be "measurably and immediately" increased.

Asked how this can be accomplished, Royall said either through an increase in voluntary enlistments, which he said is doubtful, or "some method of selective service."

Probably Means Draft

If we assume that voluntary enlistments have not produced as many men as necessary, that leaves only the draft, Lodge commented.

Royall replied that this is correct.

In other words, Lodge said, we have the alternative of the European recovery plan, or "else going back to the draft."

Royall said this is the "logical conclusion" unless some ways can be found through increased compensation or some other means.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal meanwhile told the house foreign affairs committee the objective of the recovery program "is the prevention of war" and should not be construed as "a threat against any nation."

Making his first appearance before a congressional committee on the so-called Marshall plan for the economic rehabilitation of European nations outside the Soviet orbit, Forrestal said:

"Neither this program nor our national defense expenditures are designed as a threat against any nation nor as an effort to restrain any nation or to dominate a group of nations."

Ball Predicts Fund Cut

Senator Ball (R-Minn) predicts congress will make a "sizable" cut in the $6,800,000,000 asked by the administration for the first 15 months of operation.

Ball said he thinks most Republican lawmakers share this view despite Secretary of State Marshall's insistence that the amount is a "precision" figure.

Criticizing what he termed the cabinet officer's effort to assume the "mantle of infallibility," Ball, a member of the senate appropriations committee, told reporters it is generally conceded that Marshall is a good soldier."

"But," Ball added, "his infallibility as an international statesman might be questioned in view of the fact he was one of the top advisers in the Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam (Big Three) conferences, where many of the blunders which have contributed to the present international crises were made."

Ball said he hopes the state department will submit "more specific projects designed to increase Europe's production of coal, steel, food and transportation—and place less reliance on the personal assurances of individuals that in their opinions expenditures of these huge sums will bring about recovery in Europe."

SCIOTO TRANSFER TO STATE DUE MONDAY

Welfare and Federal Officials To Meet Here.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15—Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today he would meet with federal representatives in Marion at 10 a. m. Monday for negotiations on the proposed transfer of the Scioto Ordnance plant to the state.

The 1947 legislature appropriated $100,000 to enable the welfare department to acquire the 944 acre property as a site for a training school for delinquents.

Sherwood said the state also would be represented at the conference by Col. Harold Hays, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster; John A. Waidner, chief of the welfare department's division of business administration, and Prof. Walter Beckley of the Ohio State university school of social administration.

Charles T. Ballard of Louisville, U. S. district supervisor of surplus disposal for the federal land bank, and Tully C. Fox of Ashland, project manager at Scioto, will represent the government.

THREAT AIRED IN SLAVE TRIAL

Witness Declares Defendant Attempted To Influence Her Testimony.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Jan. 15—The Mann act trial of Annida Veazey, alias Irene Wilson, 24, late yesterday was continued until Monday after an all-day session highlighted by a statement by a Columbus girl, a material witness, that the defendant threatened her in connection with testimony she might offer.

The continuance was granted Presiding Federal Judge John H. Druffel said, to give defense attorneys time to take depositions from two more witnesses, Paul T. Wicke and his wife, Nora Belle Wicke, at Ironton.

Mrs. Veazey was among 18 persons held for federal court action on charges of violating the Mann act after the FBI's white slave raids on Ironton last November. However, she was the only one to demand a trial.

15 Given Sentences

Fifteen others pleaded guilty and were given prison sentences. The last was Wilford Vogelsang, 31, an Ironton taxi driver, who entered a guilty plea yesterday and was handed a two-year term.

The remaining two defendants, Nicholas and Joyce Dinora of Benld, Ill., are scheduled to go on trial here next month.

Mrs. Veazey, who gave her address as near Sunbury, O., is charged with participating in the transportation of Virginia Imes, 24, from Ironton to Louisa, Ky., for immoral purposes. The FBI identified Mrs. Veazey as the operator of a house of prostitution in Ironton.

She waived a jury trial.

Called to the stand yesterday by the prosecution, Betty Lou Eller testified Mrs. Veazey telephoned her recently and insisted she was not at the "house" the night the Imes woman was taken to Louisa. The witness then reported Mrs. Veazey referred to her husband, William Veazey, and then said: "Bill's not going to the penitentiary and he'll get you wherever you're at."

Miss Eller said she answered the threat: "I'm not going to get up there and perjure myself for anyone."

A Louisa, Ky., taxi driver Troy Salyers, 29, testified Mrs. Veazey demanded $50 when he asked to take Miss Imes from the "house" in Ironton to Louisa for an "all-night date," but said he was not certain whether he paid the money to Mrs. Veazey or another woman.

Two Are Injured In Traffic Accidents

In an automobile accident near Marion on route 4 at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, Harry Richardson of 184 Hughes street suffered a broken jaw when his car failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into a semi-truck and trailer parked along the road. Arthur Gibson of New Castle, Pa., the driver, was not in the truck at the time of the accident. Mr. Richardson was taken to City hospital for treatment.

In another accident at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, Edith Retter who was riding in a car driven by Mark Karr of near Carey suffered lacerations of the face and body when Mr. Karr's automobile and a truck driven by Robert Clements of near Upper Sandusky collided just west of Harpster.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN OPENS

County Chairman Tells of Need for Generous Support.

Infantile paralysis in the United States in the last five years has increased 150 per cent over the previous five-year period, according to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which discloses that some 80,000 people were stricken by polio from January 1943 through December 1947.

These figures were presented today by Virgil F. Dye, county chairman of the annual March of Dimes campaign which got under way here today.

Colorful posters to which are attached the transparent coin containers, have gone into offices, business places, bus stations and train stations and it is the hope of the chairmen and the state and national sponsors that this year's campaign will meet with a generous response from givers to meet the urgent need for conquering the disease.

During the past seven years, Mr. Dye points out, the number of children and young people crippled by the disease has increased almost 45 per cent.

Contributions to the 1948 March of Dimes, opening today, help guarantee that no infantile patient need go without care for lack of money, despite the rise in cases and the increased costs of medical and hospital care which place a growing financial burden on the National Foundation.

Wholesale Food Prices Hit All-Time High

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Wholesale food prices have risen to a new all-time high as measured by the index of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., it was announced today.

The index in the week ended Jan. 13 rose 7 cents to $7.28 and compared with $6.23 in the corresponding week of 1947. The all-time low was reached Jan. 31, 1933 at $1.49.

Dun & Bradstreet's index is the sum total of the price per pound of 31 foods in general use. In the latest week there were increases in the price of 10 of these foods; decline in the price of four and 11 were unchanged.

Mercury Drops To One Above For Lowest Mark of Winter

Marion thermometers hovered at one degree above zero last night as the district felt the icy blast of the winter's coldest wave which swept over Ohio and much of the nation. The weatherman promised no relief in the latest forecast, colder with snow squalls late tonight and Friday.

The season's coldest weather moved in on Ohio during the night driving the temperature down to a record 10 below in Millport, Columbiana county, the state's coldest spot.

Five Marion industrial customers of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. were without natural gas for fuel today as standby equipment took over to continue operations. Plants in other areas faced curtailment of operations as gas suppliers ordered the cutting of gas supplies to industrial users from 50 to 100 per cent. Service of residential users was unaffected.

The state's major natural gas suppliers, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. announced a 100 per cent curtailment of gas to its 178 industrial users, excepting those requiring enough fuel for maintenance of equipment.

The East Ohio Gas Co. reduced by 50 per cent its deliveries to some 800 industrial consumers, including those in Cleveland, Youngstown and Canton.

Other Cuts Made

At East Liverpool, the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. ordered an 85 per cent curtailment of gas for industrial purposes in 32 Ohio valley cities between the Ohio-Pennsylvania border and New Martinsville, W. Va. Employment was not seriously affected, since potteries, steel mills and other major industries in the area switched to oil or producer gas to maintain production.

No immediate let-up in the cold wave, which is sweeping down from Canada, was seen by the weather bureau.

Minimum readings of three degrees below zero were recorded at Youngstown, Mansfield and East Liverpool during Wednesday night, while Cleveland reported a minus-one reading.

Official readings at 7:30 a. m. included: Youngstown, zero; East Liverpool, one above; Ashland, two above; Cleveland, three above; Mansfield, three; Columbus, seven, Toledo, nine; Findlay, nine; Dayton, 10; and Cincinnati, 12.

Other parts of the nation shared Ohioan's discomfort as winter's icy blasts chilled the eastern half of the country and as freezing weather lingered in the south the mercury dropped to 35 above in Miami, Fla., and to 10 above in Greensboro, N. C.

New Cold Wave Coming

While the south shivered in the abnormal temperatures and many were faced with shortages of fuel, a fresh cold wave howled across the Dakotas and headed into other sections of the midwest. In the east, the mercury dipped to below zero in New York state.

Greensboro's 10 above was the coldest spot in the southern frost belt but the mercury plunged to 12 above at Atlanta, and to 16 at Birmingham, Ala. Other low early morning readings included 16 at Macon, Ga., 17 at Nashville, Tenn.; 19 at Charleston, S. C., and 30 at New Orleans.

Miami's 35 above, recorded by the federal forecasters at the city's airport, was a drop from the yesterday's high of 72. In other Florida cities, Orlando reported a low of 27 and Jacksonville's minimum was 22.

In New York state, Albany and Syracuse reported early morning readings of six below and the mercury dropped to one below in Rochester. New York's low was 11 above. Pittsburgh was near zero and in Washington the mercury touched 14.

Near blizzard conditions were forecast for most of the Dakotas today with sharp drops in temperature, 30 to 40 miles per hour north winds and light snow.

Los Angeles' 80 was high across the nation yesterday.

After last night's record low temperature of one degree the temperature had risen to 18 degrees above zero at noon today as compared with yesterday's high temperature of 15 above.

A year ago today the high was 38 and the low 26.

R.A.F. PLANE FIRED ON NEAR JERUSALEM

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Jan. 15—A plane which British military officials said they believed was Jewish-piloted fired on an R.A.F. reconnaissance craft today over Kfar Etzion in the mountain area south of Jerusalem, where Jews and Arabs had been locked in a bloody 24-hour battle.

British planes, along with tanks and artillery, had been moved into the area to halt the fighting, in which 50 persons were reported to have been slain.

The battle had raged in the vicinity of Hebron where Arabs estimated to number 400 surrounded four Jewish settlements. A Jewish agency spokesman said the "fighting stopped when the military moved in." The British army, confirming this, reported the area quiet.

The army said tanks and self-propelled guns had arrived to patrol the section. Royal Air Force Spitfires made dummy runs over the craggy hills at daybreak but withdrew after an hour.

The Jewish spokesman said 100 Arabs and two Jews were slain and a half dozen Jews wounded. But police estimated casualties at about 50, and the consensus of Jewish, Arab and Police sources was that 20 Arabs and 20 Jews had died.

The unofficial tally of violent deaths in the Holy Land now stands at 708 since the United Nations assembly voted for partition Nov. 29.

CHILD SLAYER IS BOUND OVER

Youth Under Strong Police Guard in Cleveland Court.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 15—Harold Beach, Jr., 22-year-old confessed slayer of Sheila Ann Tuley, 8, was held for grand jury action today following a brief municipal court appearance.

Guarded by 30 policemen, the bespectacled youth waived a preliminary hearing and asked that the case be transferred to the grand jury.

He told Municipal Court Judge John E. Sweeney "I want an attorney right away. I've got some things to explain to him."

Assistant County Prosecutor Joseph Jaglenski read the warrant charging Beach with first degree murder in the New Year's night killing and asked:

"Did you kill this girl?"

"Yes," Beach replied.

Special guards have been assigned to county jail where Beach will be held awaiting grand jury action, Sheriff Joseph M. Sweeney reported.

The 22-year-old confessed killer was formally booked on a murder charge yesterday after he dictated and signed a seven-page statement, detailing the manner in which he met and stabbed the child.

Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan said there would not be time to prepare the case for presentation to the county grand jury tomorrow.

A crowd estimated by police at 4,000 milled about the scene of the crime last night. Published announcements had stated an hour that Beach would reenact the slaying for police.

Earlier, however, members of the police homicide squad took Beach secretly over the ground to avoid possible violence.

"We acted to protect Beach from bodily harm," said Lt. David E. Kerr, head of the homicide squad. "Beach's safety as a prisoner is my responsibility, and I was not taking any chances. That neighborhood has became so aroused by Sheila Ann's death there was no telling what might happen. This is a murder case and not a Roman holiday. Our business is to protect those we have in custody."

Dwight Bible, 22, and James T. Cassidy, 32, in whose home Bible rooms, were named as the claimants of the $7,000 in rewards offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer of Sheila Ann.

Bible, an electrician's helper, knew something of Beach's background and bowled with him in the same league. When Beach did not show up to bowl, Bible had Cassidy, a bus driver, telephone his suspicions to Deputy Inspector Michael J. Blackwell, who passed the information on to the homicide squad.

Beach was arrested Monday at Baltimore, where he had gone to visit his mother.

2 DEAD, 8 HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

Engineer, Passenger Killed as Rock Island Trains Collide Near Little Rock.

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 15—Two persons were killed and at least eight others injured today when two Rock Island trains collided head on at the western outskirts of Little Rock.

Dead were W. L. Martin, about 58, North Little Rock, engineer of a westbound passenger train, and an unidentified Negro woman passenger. Martin was scalded to death in the cab of his locomotive.

Grady Herr, Little Rock, engineer of an eastbound freight train, suffered severe burns and G. W. May, 26, North Little Rock, Herr's fireman, suffered the loss of his right leg below the knee. J. C. McDaniel, Martin's fireman, received minor lacerations about the head. Both firemen jumped from their locomotives just before the impact.

The other injured apparently were hurt less seriously.

The passenger train was the west bound Memphis-Californian, en route from Memphis to Amarillo, Tex. The freight was eastbound from Oklahoma City to Memphis.

The trains met on a sharp curve at the foot of a long grade just opposite Little Rock Riverdale Country club golf course. A baggage coach, one car back from the passenger engine, was shoved back into a chair car where the most severe passenger casualties were suffered.

The two all-steel cars telescoped and it was necessary to use saws to extricate the injured.

The freight cars piled up like matchsticks behind the freight locomotive, tumbling crosswise the tracks.

The injured included Mrs. Julia Cummings, Hopkinsville, Ky., in a hospital here for observation.

FAST PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO FREIGHT

By The Associated Press

WALES, Tenn., Jan. 15—The Hummingbird, fast northbound passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, crashed into the rear of a freight train last night, derailing five cars but not seriously injuring any of its 80 passengers.

H. T. Schneider, district passenger agent for the railroad at Nashville, said the Hummingbird, a seven-car diesel streamliner operating between New Orleans and Cincinnati, was using a detour track at the time the train, traveling at a slow speed, struck the freight at 11:40 p. m. (CST).

Five cars were derailed but did not overturn, he said, and only one person suffered an injury requiring the treatment of a physician.

RETURN DATE NOT CERTAIN

Extradition Papers Obtained from Governor's Office; Trip Made by Train.

Three Marion county law enforcement officials are speeding westward today by train to Lamar, Colo., to return Edwin D. Young, 39, to Marion to stand trial for the murder of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes, 25.

Sought since July 11 when Mrs. Gerbes lifeless body, trussed in a clothesline, was found by two youths in a rural churchyard near Marion, the ex-convict was caught Monday, tripped up on a bad check charge. The sheriff of Prowers county in the mining state, identified "Roy E. Edwards" as the man wanted here on a first degree murder indictment after scanning a flyer received in the morning mail.

The FBI confirmed the identity with a fingerprint comparison made in Washington and County Prosecutor James E. Reed yesterday made immediate plans to extradite Young.

With Sheriff LeRoy Retterer and former prosecutor Russell Wilhelm, Reed hastened to Columbus yesterday afternoon to secure extradition papers from Governor Thomas J. Herbert.

Although Young readily agreed to return to face the murder charge here, question of extradition proceedings may come up, Reed said, and so the Marion county officials left prepared.

Leave From Columbus

The three men left Columbus at 11:30 last night for Chicago, taking the Santa Fe route out of Chicago to Kansas City and into Colorado today. They are expected to arrive in Lamar, Prowers county seat where Young is held, at 7:45 a. m. tomorrow.

Prosecutor Reed said last night that barring delays, they would have Young back in Marion Monday. The possibility exists he stated that they may have to go to the Colorado state capital at Denver over the matter of extradition. Reed said the district attorney's office there was not sure on Colorado statutes, according to the phone conversation he held with officials there. The prosecutor felt confident however that Colorado authorities would release Young into their custody to answer the Ohio charge.

Held On Check Charge

Young who has served seven years in Ohio convicted first on auto theft and then forgery charges, was arrested in Holly, Colo., Jan. 4 on a bad check charge. John Hodson, the county sheriff had a warrant for his arrest for issuing about $500 worth in and near Holly, a small community about 35 miles southeast of Lamar and near the Kansas border.

Young, going under the name Roy E. Edwards, made himself liable to bigamy charge by marrying a rural school teacher, Geneva Markim, 22, at Holly on Christmas day, giving the Colorado authorities plenty of grounds to hold him.

When he fled Marion, he abandoned his crippled wife, age 40, and a small son. Mrs. Young told authorities she never saw him after the night Mrs. Gerbes was found strangled to death. She returned to her father's home in New Philadelphia, O., several days after he disappeared.

Since fleeing Ohio, Young had been in the southeastern part of Colorado. Sheriff Hodson said he had been in the Prower county area about a month, and apparently not regularly employed anywhere. Earlier he had worked as a farm hand in that predominantly agricultural area.

To Face Arraignment

Prosecuter Reed indicated that no time would be lost after Young has been retrned before he would be brought into common pleas court for arraignment on the first degree murder charge. The September grand jury indicted him when he was still at large.

If the accused has no attorney, which is probable, Judge Paul D. Smith will appoint counsel to defend him. If a jury trial is indicated and the date set, the jury commission will draw a special venire. In the recently concluded Sheppard case a total of 145 names were drawn.

Young, however, could elect to be tried by a panel of three judges.

The January grand jury scheduled to convene today has been indefinitely postponed by Judge Smith because Prosecutor Reed now is enroute to Colorado.

The county commissioners this morning authorized expenditure of $600 to help defray the costs of returning Young to stand trial.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THIS is the election year of 1948 but, if you run into someone from Washington, don't ask him:

"Who's going to get the Republican nomination for president? Taft? Dewey? Stassen? Who?"

How would anyone here know the answer to that one at this time?

Right now the Republicans themselves—and that includes Stassen, Dewey, Taft and anyone else you can think of—don't know.

MARLOW

Maybe there's magic in the name Washington. Or maybe people here are supposed to have some special wisdom.

It never fails. Travel away from here, say to New York, and you're bound to run into some one who asks:

"You think Taft has a chance? How about Stassen? Now, I hear that Dewey—"

Baloney. The Republicans from all over the country hold their convention in Philadelphia next June to choose a candidate.

Between now and then a lot of things may happen, enough in one direction to make one of the candidates a cinch to get the nomination.

Or, between now and then, one of the candidates may be able to line up enough convention delegates to make his nomination in June pretty sure.

That hasn't happened yet, so far as the people working here know. If it has, it's a well-kept secret.

THE RACE IS SO wide open that if you're living in some little old whistle-stop near Keokuk, you know as much as the people here.

Sure, the town is full of rumors all the time. And opinions are a dime a dozen.

For example:

If you're a newspaperman working around the capitol, you get to know a lot of congressmen on a first-name basis.

If the afternoon when the day's grind is over, you can drop around to the office of one of them for a few words, or a few thousand.

He'll tell you what he's heard. The trouble with that is: What he's heard he's heard from someone who's heard it from someone else.

DROP AROUND NEXT week and he'll tell you what he's heard again. It'll be a little different from what he's heard this week.

So, if you run into someone from Washington and he tells you he knows positively who's going to get the Republican nomination, scratch him off.

A guy like that is obtaining the use of your ear under false pretenses.

It's different with the Democrats.

It's pretty well taken for granted that President Truman will be nominated to succeed himself when the Democrats hold their convention in Philadelphia in July. Nobody else is being mentioned as a rival.

Eagles To Attend District Convention

Plans were made for Buckeye Aerie of Eagles to be represented at a zone convention to be held in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Eagles lodge Feb. 7-8 in Dayton at a meeting of the Marion Eagles lodge Wednesday night. The Eagles lodge was founded Feb. 6, 1898, in Seattle, Wash. Conventions are being planned in eight different zones in Ohio on those dates.

Omer Williams, worthy president of Buckeye Aerie, announced that five delegates will attend from Marion, along with a number of other members. Activities at the convention will include a mass zone initiation, a parade on Sunday at 1 p. m. in which the Buckeye Aerie Eagles band and the quartet will participate, business session Saturday afternoon with a guest speaker, and entertainment for the new members.

Two applications for membership were accepted. They will be initiated with a class locally on Sunday, Jan. 25. A program of entertainment was announced for Friday night to be held in the lodge social rooms.

Guests at the meeting were Arthur Hummel, Alva Edman, Lowell Rudasill and Frank Pugh, all of Kenton.

SENTENCE CAR THIEVES CAUGHT AT PORTSMOUTH

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Jan. 15—Three Detroit men captured at Portsmouth, O., in a stolen, loot-laden car with a drunken woman in the trunk were under prison sentences today.

Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis sentenced Edward Kelly, 27, George Vincent, 28, and Simon McBryde, 32, to serve three-years and 11 months to four-years yesterday on conviction of larceny.

Car theft sentences were suspended by Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman, and Ohio authorities previously had dropped kidnaping charges after learning the woman was voluntarily in the car trunk.

The car held a gund and fur coats taken in a Detroit robbery and had been stolen from a Detroit parking lot, officers said after the capture several months ago.

For Strength in the Air

RECOMMENDATIONS of the President's air policy committee leaves no doubt as to where its members stand. By the end of 1949 they would have 7,000 first-line combat planes and by 1953, 8,100 planes manned by strong regular and reserve forces. They would look into the reasons why domestic airlines are losing money and would reject the "chosen instrument" policy whereby our line would represent the United States in transoceanic service.

If the recommendations are adopted, the nation will have a strong, up-to-date air force, an aircraft industry able to anticipate its orders five years in advance and a flourishing commercial airline network.

In the light of the world situation, they are sound, realistic recommendations. Until the ideals visualized in the U.N. charter become reality, an alert, powerful air force is essential for the nation's defense. In the era of guided missiles and atomic weapons, there would be no time after the first warlike act to build up a defense. Even those who question the future of ground armies will join other advocates of preparedness in agreeing that a strong air force is essential.

In a matter of more immediacy, the board recommends that the CAB be given full economic control over nonscheduled airlines. In view of the frequent and inexcusable accidents that have occurred on such carriers in recent months, close government surveillance of their operations is necessary.

Hopeful Signs

TWO laws passed last week in France indicate the Schuman government is taking heroic measures to stabilize French economy. Increased taxes will take 125 billion francs out of circulation by the year's end and governmental civil expenditures will be cut 10 per cent by March 30. The fact that these measures were sustained by repeated votes of confidence is evidence that France's middle-of-the-road forces are more durable than either the Communists or the Gaullists had believed.

By these actions and a bolstering of the administrative setup to cope with disorders, France undertakes to qualify for a World bank loan of $250,000,000. It also gives Marshall plan supporters in Washington basis for their claim that France is a good risk.

Grinding the Same Old Ax

THE employment act of 1946 set up a council of economic advisers to help the Chief Executive make an annual economic report to the nation. The public—foolishly as it has turned out—thought this would be helpful.

It thought the advisers would prepare objective information which would be passed along intact to the people who needed it. But what has happened is that the advisers pass along their information to the Chief Executive, who uses what he pleases, always for the purpose of grinding his political ax.

President Truman has made his third report. Like the first two, it does not separate his own partisanship from the objectivity of his advisers. There is no way to tell what they told him; the third report is little more than a worry rehash of the partisan sections of his state-of-the-union message.

The presidential economic report may as well be discontinued. It has been spoiled by misuse for partisan purposes. It has come under the same political curse as the annual message on the state of the union, which in recent years has been a memorandum on the state of the Chief Executive. The council of economic advisers is one of the likely places for the last session of the 80th congress to save a little money.

No One Really Knows

IT'S no discredit to the educated guessers who make federal budgets to say that they don't know what they're talking about. During the last eight years they've missed federal income by as high as 53 per cent in one case; their average error has been 27 per cent.

In January, 1940, the guessed income would be 6.1 billion at the end of the 12 months beginning the following July 1. It was 8.2 billion, a 34 per cent error. The next year they guessed 8.9 billion. Income was 13.6 billion, an error of 53 per cent. In January, 1942, they guessed 17.8 billion, missing it by 31 per cent. Actual income was 23.3 billion. The following January they more than doubled the preceding estimate, guessing 35.4 billion. Actual receipts were 45.4 billion, a 28 per cent error. Not discouraged, they guessed 43.4 billion the next time, a 10 per cent error. Receipts were 47.7 billion. The next time they came close, guessing 42.8 billion against actual income of 44.2 billion, only a 3 per cent error. Then in January, 1946, they covered themselves with confusion again by an error of 36 per cent—estimated income was 32.9 billion, actual income was 44.7 billion. Last year's estimate for the present fiscal year was 37.7 billion, but the budget just prepared says it will be 45.2 billion, which would be a 20 per cent error if it works out that way.

The guesstimators say the government will take in $44,477,000,000 starting next July 1 and ending June 30, 1949. The fact is no one really knows. It might be a lot more with tax cuts and a business slump it could be a lot less.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Don't Let Government Costs Conquer Us.

OBVIOUSLY, Harry Truman has no conception of a billion dollars. It is just a big number. Big numbers are to him preferable to little numbers. Before Truman, it was assumed that Franklin D. Roosevelt was the biggest spender this country had ever known, but compared with Harry Truman, Roosevelt's spending, except in wartime, was moderate.

Let's look at the figures. Roosevelt's spending from 1933 to 1940 ran thus:

1933	$4,325,150,000
1934	6,370,947,000
1935	7,583,434,000
1936	9,068,886,000
1937	8,251,380,000
1938	7,304,287,000
1939	8,765,238,000
1940	9,127,374,000

Then came war expenditures, which reached an all-time high of $100,000,000,000 in 1945. Wars cost lives and money without stint, for defeat means slavery. So we can skip those war years.

Truman has presented his country with four years of expenditures:

1946	$62,714,000,000
1947	42,505,000,000
1948	37,728,000,000
1949 (proposed)	39,669,000,000

In a word, Truman's peacetime budget runs between three and four times more than Roosevelt's highest peacetime expenditure.

Hidden Items

It is true that Truman has to carry the load of the continuing cost of war, interest on the public debt of $256,000,000,000, cost of veterans, and the cost of keeping an army in all parts of the world. Also, Truman inherits all the costs of Teheran and Yalta, which means this cold war that Russia is waging against us. But items are hidden in his budget which are unrelated to these costs and which are put in to make the budget high.

Apparently, Truman believes that high government expenditures prevent inflation. He said so, but there is no statistical or clinical evidence that that is true. Inflation inflates worse when the government spends public funds to purchase goods than when competition drives prices down. As a matter of fact, the current high prices are due to government buying, government subsidies, and excessive government exports abroad.

War's Fixed Charges

The fixed charges out of the last war are veterans services and benefits amounting to $6,632,000,000. The interest on the public debt amounts to $5,200,000,000. This $11,832,000,000 is the foundation of all our troubles and ought to give the citizens considerable food for thought. This $11,832,000,000 is more than the total 1940 budget by $2,500,000,000.

In 1940, the national defense cost $1,500,000,000. Then came the war when expenditures naturally rose. For 1948, Truman proposed that the armed forces receive $10,700,000,000; for 1949, $11,025,000,000.

Out of his roughly $40,000,000,000 budget these three items take the load:

Public debt	$5,200,000,000
Veterans	6,632,000,000
Armed Forces	10,700,000,000
	$22,532,000,000

The cost of government is making each individual American poorer every year. The cost of government is working a revolution in American life. It must be cut drastically if we are not to be conquered by our expenditures—a worse conqueror even than war.

The Iron Curtain vs. The Silver Screen

The display of photographs of Hollywood actors has been forbidden throughout the Soviet Union.

Gable's back but Sonya hasn't got him.

One can understand the Russian concern: What could undermine the communal state quicker than a picture, say, of Jane Russell with the simple caption: "All This and Free Enterprise, Too?"

Films themselves have long been banned: After all, the average Russian could hardly be expected to place much credence in rumors of the decadence of democracy after witnessing Gene Autry single-handedly round up a band of rustlers, expose the crooked foreman and rescue the heroine from a runaway stage-coach without missing a single bar of his theme-song.

Of course, a few special American films are shown . . . . such as Gone With the Wind, for instance, to demonstrate just how obsolete is our military equipment.

In fact, in view of the Kremlin's new propaganda line about famine in the U. S., I wouldn't be at all surprised to hear they were importing a few Sinatra epics.

The Hook Is Barbed

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

WITH the blessing and encouragement of Senator Robert A. Taft the more extreme isolationists among the senate Republicans have now banded together in a sort of bloc or junta. Significantly, the immediate purpose of their quiet, unannounced meeting and caucusing during the past days is emphatically not to find the best way of defeating the European recovery program. The object is, rather, to find a compromise which will permit them to vote with Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, and thus maintain party unity in this election year.

They have, in fact, acknowledged to themselves, both isolationism's political danger to the Republicans, noted in this space some days ago, and the strategic strength of Senator Vandenberg's position, herein suggested last week. Personally these men are just as isolationists as they ever were. But politically they have become aware that they are impaled upon a hook, that the hook has very deep barbs, and that getting off the hook will improve the Republican chances next November.

The new movement obviously may transform itself, in case agreement cannot be reached, into a disciplined junta of bitter-enders, who will stop at nothing to tear the guts out of ERP, many of the senators would privately be pleased to do precisely this, so that the risk cannot be ignored.

Some "Tagging Along"

This risk is obviously meant to impress Senator Vandenberg. It would also be very unwise to feel that these men can find any grounds for argument with Vandenberg, even if he is ready to yield a little. About a score of senators—which would include the whole hard core of Republican isolationism — are reported to be chiefly involved, although additional more moderate men may also be tagging along. The flavor of the group is best conveyed by the fact that two of the most active members are the Nebraska senators, Hugh Butler and Kenneth Wherry.

The movement, of course, really derives from the presidential candidacy of Senator Taft. The senators chiefly participating want to see Taft in the White House. They admire Taft, more important still they realize, that Taft's victory would be a triumph for the ultra-conservative Republican wing which they represent. Senator Taft himself has taken no active part in their meeting and caucusing, from a cautious fear that an unlucky outcome might implicate him later on as an isolationist extremist. But Taft, nonetheless, intervened decisively early in the process of coagulation of the Republican isolationists into an organized group. And Taft's influence was responsible for the group's decision to begin by seeking compromise.

It it had not been for Taft, these men would probably have started by issuing one of those statements of undying opposition of which Senator Wherry is the great English prose-master.

Not Just Politics

There is here something more than mere political expediency, as in most of Senator Taft's actions. For the first time in his political career, he has lately taken a little time to study the inwardness of the world problem, discussing it at some length with such men as Secretary of Defense James Forrestal. According to those close to him, he has been a little shaken by the result of his inquiries, accepting at last the impossibility of total American isolation.

Thus he sees the necessity of the ultimate passage of a European recovery program in some workable form, without regard to politics. The political expediency of Taft's new move lies, rather, in his effort to secure the company of all the other senatorial isolationists. He wants to avoid a solitary renunciation of his former position. If all the isolationists act together, it will tend to obscure any inconsistency with Taft's previous statements of policy. It will also leave no reasonable grounds for complaint by Colonel Robert R. McCormick and other Taftites of his kidney. Like every other political leader, wise and unwise, Senator Taft has a hankering to have his cake and eat it too. In his case this hankering inevitably takes the form of a hankering both to have his Illinois delegates and to get off the isolationist hook. The hook has become considerably more painful since the recent test polls of presidential aspirants.

Mice Take His Beard For a Thatched Roof

By The Associated Press

COPENHAGEN—An old man with a long white beard stood talking with a grocer in a village near Vordinborg. The grocer noticed a movement in the beard and then saw a small mouse peep out of the mass of whiskers.

The old man calmly took the mouse out of his beard and gently placed it on the floor so it could scamper away, telling the grocer:

"I've got accustomed to it. Those little ones think it's a thatched roof."

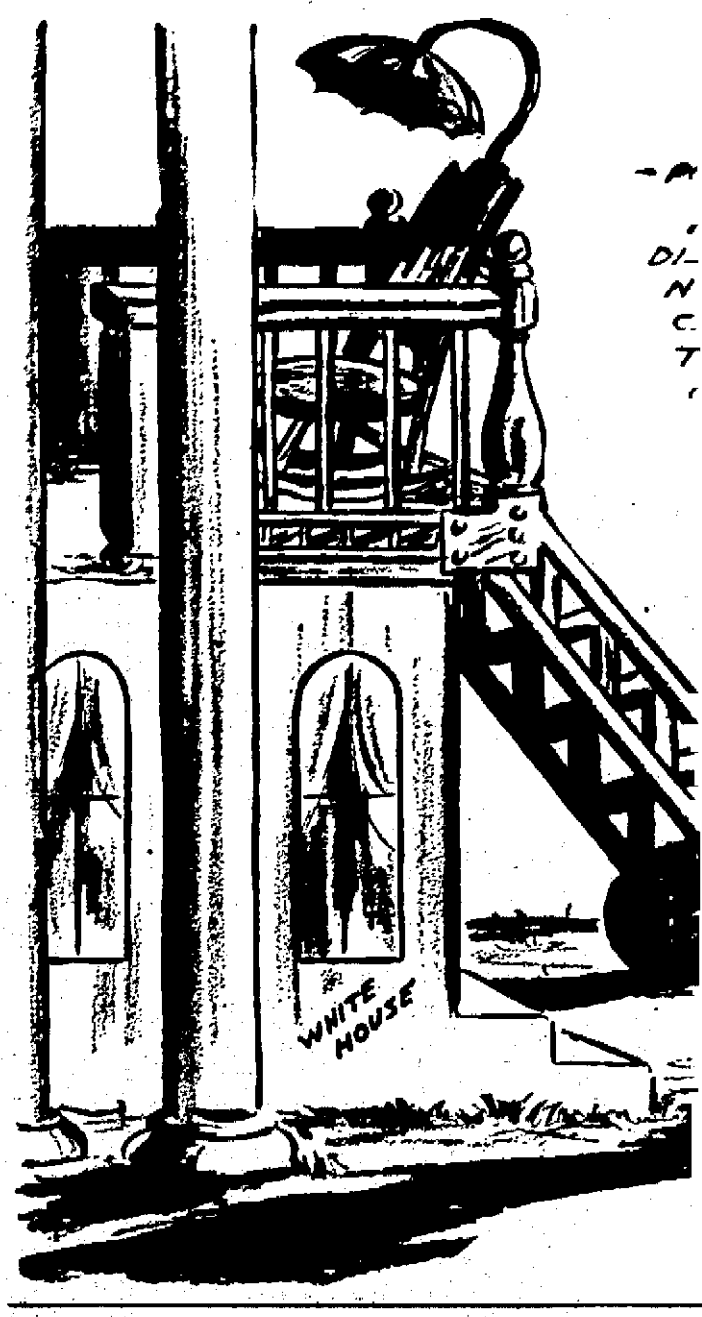
Practical Plan for Truman's



Safety Through Air Force

By Walter Lippmann

THE main recommendation of the President's air policy commission, of which Thomas K. Finletter is the chairman, is that we should start at once to make the air force capable of delivering a sustained assault at long range upon the industrial centers of the Soviet Union.

The commission has found that under present conditions—that is to say, while the country is at peace—the development of such a striking force could be accomplished in about four years and would call for additional appropriations of about $24,000,000,000 over and above what we are now spending on the Army, the Navy and the air force.

LIPPMANN

If we assume that the Army and Navy are not to be reduced while this strategic air force is being created, then for the five years 1948-1952, inclusive, our military expenditures will be over $75,000,000,000. That is without universal military training.

Apparently it is also without the very large sums which would be needed to sustain rapid and intensive research and development of new weapons which are now in the experimental laboratories. It is also without the industrial measures, for example, the synthetic development of oil, about which Secretary Krug testified this week.

The Finletter commission has, however, been very careful not to recommend that this gigantic program we adopted now as a whole. What it recommends is that this program be begun this year and that at the end of the calendar year 1949—that is two years from now—it should be reviewed. It is, therefore, in fact, a two-year program which would cost about 5,000,000,000 extra.

If this program is adopted now, we shall be in a position two years hence to proceed with the creation of the great air force. If it is not adopted now, then two years hence it will take two years longer before we could, without reimposing war controls, have in being such a force.

Thus the commission is recommending that we lay immediately the foundations of an air force capable of dominating the centers of Soviet power, and that having laid the foundations, we review the situation—particularly our relations with Russia—two years hence.

If they are decidedly better—as would be the case if a German peace treaty were in sight which provided for the evacuation of the European continent by all the armies of occupation—the tempo of the development of our strategic air power could then be reduced. If on the contrary our relations have become worse, we shall be technically prepared to accelerate the tempo of development.

Sound Proposal

This is, it seems to me, a sound and a wise calculation if we can assume—a subject which the committee could not go into—that long-range air power is treated as one element in, and not as a substitute for, a well-conceived and well-supported policy designed to bring about a settlement of the German war we have just fought and of the cold war with Russia we are now engaged in. This air force is not an alternative to the European recovery program. Seventy combat groups of airplanes will not give us peace or security or prosperity or protect the liberties of men if the great nations sink into squalor and disorder.

Nor is the strategic air force in itself a military panacea in the immediate diplomatic conflicts around the periphery of the Soviet orbit. For while it is the most certain way available to us of ... ing an effective balance of p... against the use of the Red ... as an instrument of direct ... open aggression, a long-rang... force with atomic bombs c... be employed effectively to ... diplomatic pressure in the ... war.

The Stalled Train Prisoner

"A commuter who runs a butcher shop has sued a railroad claiming that the delay during a snowstorm constituted imprisonment, incarceration and unlawful detention"—News item.

Q.—Now then when did you get on this train?
A.—At half past six in the evening.
Q.—And what time did you get out?
A.—Three the next morning.
Q.—You are a butcher; why didn't you cut your way out?
A.—It was a chopless Tuesday.

Q.—When this train became stalled in the snow what happened next?
A.—The same thing that always happens when a railroad train comes to an unexpected stop anywhere...the crew froze up harder than the switches and adopted an air of great reticence.
Q.—Did you ask what the situation was?
A.—I did.
Q.—How did you frame your question?
A.—With all the other passengers I demanded, "What is the situation up ahead and how's chances of getting out of here?
Q.—What was the reply?
A.—The trainmen went into a huddle and refused to answer on the ground it was an unauthorized quiz program with no jackpot.

Q.—Did you ultimately get any response?
A.—Along around the second year of my incarceration a flagman came through and said it was snowing, but that the railroad refused to make it official.
Q.—How long do you say you were on that train?
A.—I was locked up so long I got to be a trusty.

* * *

Q.—What did you do when all hope seemed gone?
A.—I wrote my mother telling her what the visiting hours were.
Q.—You considered the train a prison?
A.—I can prove it.
Q.—How?
A.—By the time I got off I had a prison pallor and had learned basket weaving.
Judge (abruptly)—What is that strange humming noise I hear?
A.—It's me, judge. I keep humming "The Prisoner's Song" from habit. Please excuse it.

Judge—Certainly. I'm a commuter myself. See me in my chambers and we will have a duet some time.

Q.—Now under what circumstances did you get your freedom from this stalled train?
A.—All I remember is that after what seemed the best years of my life the train lurched, the doors were opened and the conductor insisted I had been pardoned.
Q.—Then why aren't you satisfied?
A.—I got no time off for good behavior!

And now I'm out of one.

An eastern commissioner of education thinks it is just ducky to have a Communist teaching in our public schools. He favors, it would seem, the Little "Reds'" Schoolhouse.

Henry Morgenthau sold corn short and lost money. How was he to know the campaign speeches would flood the market with it so soon?

It looks as if the Democrats are trying to convince the voters that there is such a thing as a funnel that looks the same at each end.

Lakewood, New Jersey, officials (it breaks our heart) are punishing autoists who do not respect school buses by making them come to schoolhouse and write, "I must not pass a school bus in Lakewood" one hundred times. If this doesn't stop reckless driving their lollipops will be taken away.

On Politicians

By TRUMAN TWILL

A politician is a fellow who spends all his time running for office, pausing now and then for a breathing spell while holding the office he has finally caught up with. But soon he must start running again, which explains the behavior of politicians.

It explains why they wear red suspenders, kiss babies they are not fond of, pose in cowboy hats for photographers, send messages of condolence to people they are not sorry for and develop memorable characteristics, such as wearing a lock of hair over their foreheads.

It explains why they talk as if they were trying to impress an uncertain voter in the back row, mingle with the boys even though the boys may give them a big fat pain in the neck, attend county fairs with a retinue of admirers, ride in touring cars with the top down and always go to the polls with their wives on election day.

It explains why they never appear in public with their vests unbuttoned, always slow up at the dedications of new buildings, make a special point of remembering the names of unmemorable people, shake hands with a firm grip and a warm smile, consent to appear at dinners when they are not hungry and insist on their wives wearing becoming hats for public appearances.

It explains why they are frequently seen with their arms draped affectionately over the shoulders of geezers whose insides they would like to cut out, make instantaneous statements about issues they have not digested, hold press conferences that don't reveal anything of importance, are careful not to commit overt traffic violations and vote dry while drinking wet.

It explains why they make statements they do not believe, are noted for the sweetness and harmony of their domestic lives, always behave as though they were serving on an important committee, aim to know what is going on in the great game of politics and develop sudden and enthusiastic interest in the welfare of farmers and the underprivileged classes.

It also explains why one of the meanest things anyone can say about anyone else in a country which depends on politicians for the kind of good government it deserves and doesn't always get is, "For my money, he's just another politician," which means he is just another fellow so interested in running for office that he forgets to behave like an ordinary human being.

Not all politicians, fortunately, behave like politicians, which is a darned good thing because if they did no one would be able to trust any politician any further than he could throw one, which is something millions feel like doing when they see politicians behaving like politicians.

Russia Strengthens Silesian Airfield

By The Associated Press

WROCLAW, POLAND—A reliable source said Russian forces in Lower Silesia are developing and expanding a new airfield at Brzeg, on the main highway between Opole and Wroclaw (Breslau).

This source reported the Soviets already have about 100 planes based at Brzeg.

Russian forces now are reported to number between 120,000 and 150,000 in the Silesian sector closest to their occupied zone in Germany.

Help For a Tragic Problem

The child whose mental growth is retarded is a tragic problem and one which, in the past, has baffled the best efforts of science. In spite of much study, no one has yet been able to find out, in the great majority of cases, why the intelligence fails to develop.

Today, however, we have a most promising clue to possible causes in work done by Dr. Frederick T. Zimmerman and his co-workers of Columbia University. They find that the intelligence and behavior of some retarded children may be greatly improved by giving a substance known as glutamic acid, which is an amino acid, one of the substances that make up proteins.

The preparation may be given by mouth in the form of a tablet, powder, or capsule, three times a day. The dose varies, depending upon the extent of the difficulty. In finding the proper amount for each case, the dose is gradually increased until the child becomes distracted or uncooperative. When this happens, the dose is then decreased until the child's behavior is more normal.

Sixty-nine children, varying in age from sixteen months to seventeen years, were observed over a period of six months. Before they received the glutamic acid, more than one-third of the children had convulsive disorders, and two-thirds were mentally retarded. Before they received the preparation, thorough intelligence tests were given. It was found that during the six months of treatment, the entire group gained thirteen months in mental age, or an average of seven points in intelligence quotient or I. Q. When the intelligence quotient was quite low before treatment, a gain of a year in mental age occurred.

The parents of these youngsters also reported better behavior. For example, one child nine years old, whose intelligence quotient went up from 69 to 87, learned to jump rope, bounce a ball, become interested in her school work, and started to read. A boy of sixteen, who was a bad behavior problem, began to get along better in school and became interested in many activities, while his intelligence quotient went up from 50 to 66 in the six-month period.

A general improvement in personality also seemed to have been made by the group.

Just exactly how the glutamic acid acts has not, as yet, been determined. However, it is believed that it may have something to do with the chemical called acetylcholine in the brain.

Before the glutamic acid is administered, the child should be carefully studied to determine whether there is a possibility that such treatment will be beneficial.

For years we have been able to help a certain type of backward children—those whose mental defect is caused by lack of thyroid secretion. If their condition is discovered early and treatment begun at once, they develop normally. It may be that glutamic acid will aid another, and even larger group, of handicapped youngsters.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who Are We, Anyway?

Subject came up at Bill Webster's, the other day, as we were chatting over beer and pretzels. Just who are the folks who make up our town? Where'd they come from?

Well, Doc Hollister's Scotch-English ancestry; Will Dudley's folks were mining stock from Pennsylvania; Skip Powell's family were brewers back in Holland.

Guess our bloodstream's got a bit of every country of the globe—and every section of America. We've still got differences in taste and background—whether they apply to music, history, or beer. Only those differences don't matter—because we're self-respecting people, in a free, united land.

And from where I sit, that's what makes our towns and cities—our America—so strong, progressive, tolerant. Our championship of individual liberties has brought us people from all faiths, all lands—to prove that respect for one another's rights is the greatest bond humanity can know!

For Strength in the Air

RECOMMENDATIONS of the President's air policy committee leaves no doubt as to where its members stand. By the end of 1949 they would have 7,000 first-line combat planes and by 1953, 8,100 planes manned by strong regular and reserve forces. They would look into the reasons why domestic airlines are losing money and would reject the "chosen instrument" policy whereby our line would represent the United States in transoceanic service.

If the recommendations are adopted, the nation will have a strong, up-to-date air force, an aircraft industry able to anticipate its orders five years in advance and a flourishing commercial airline network.

In the light of the world situation, they are sound, realistic recommendations. Until the ideals visualized in the U.N. charter become reality, an alert, powerful air force is essential for the nation's defense. In the era of guided missiles and atomic weapons, there would be no time after the first warlike act to build up a defense. Even those who question the future of ground armies will join other advocates of preparedness in agreeing that a strong air force is essential.

In a matter of more immediacy, the board recommends that the CAB be given full economic control over nonscheduled airlines. In view of the frequent and inexcusable accidents that have occurred on such carriers in recent months, close government surveillance of their operations is necessary.

Hopeful Signs

TWO laws passed last week in France indicate the Schuman government is taking heroic measures to stabilize French economy. Increased taxes will take 125 billion francs out of circulation by the year's end and governmental civil expenditures will be cut 10 per cent by March 30. The fact that these measures were sustained by repeated votes of confidence is evidence that France's middle-of-the-road forces are more durable than either the Communists or the Gaullists had believed.

By these actions and a bolstering of the administrative setup to cope with disorders, France undertakes to qualify for a World bank loan of $250,000,000. It also gives Marshall plan supporters in Washington basis for their claim that France is a good risk.

Grinding the Same Old Ax

THE employment act of 1946 set up a council of economic advisers to help the Chief Executive make an annual economic report to the nation. The public—foolishly as it has turned out—thought this would be helpful.

It thought the advisers would prepare objective information which would be passed along intact to the people who needed it. But what has happened is that the advisers pass along their information to the Chief Executive, who uses what he pleases, always for the purpose of grinding his political ax.

President Truman has made his third report. Like the first two, it does not separate his own partisanship from the objectivity of his advisers. There is no way to tell what they told him; the third report is little more than a worry rehash of the partisan sections of his state-of-the-union message.

The presidential economic report may as well be discontinued. It has been spoiled by misuse for partisan purposes. It has come under the same political curse as the annual message on the state of the union, which in recent years has been a memorandum on the state of the Chief Executive. The council of economic advisers is one of the likely places for the last session of the 80th congress to save a little money.

No One Really Knows

IT'S no discredit to the educated guessers who make federal budgets to say that they don't know what they're talking about. During the last eight years they've missed federal income by as high as 53 per cent in one case; their average error has been 27 per cent.

In January, 1940, the guessed income would be 6.1 billion at the end of the 12 months beginning the following July 1. It was 8.2 billion, a 34 per cent error. The next year they guessed 8.9 billion. Income was 13 6 billion, an error of 53 per cent. In January, 1942, they guessed 17.8 billion, missing it by 31 per cent. Actual income was 23.3 billion. The following January they more than doubled the preceding estimate, guessing 35.4 billion. Actual receipts were 45.4 billion, a 28 per cent error. Not discouraged, they guessed 43.4 billion the next time, a 10 per cent error. Receipts were 47.7 billion. The next time they came close, guessing 42.8 billion against actual income of 44 2 billion, only a 3 per cent error. Then in January, 1946, they covered themselves with confusion again by an error of 36 per cent—estimated income was 32.9 billion, actual income was 44 7 billion. Last year's estimate for the present fiscal year was 37.7 billion, but the budget just prepared says it will be 45.2 billion, which would be a 20 per cent error if it works out that way.

The guesstimators say the government will take in $44,477,000,000 starting next July 1 and ending June 30, 1949. The fact is no one really knows. It might be a lot more with tax cuts and a business slump it could be a lot less.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Don't Let Government Costs Conquer Us.

OBVIOUSLY, Harry Truman has no conception of a billion dollars. It is just a big number. Big numbers are to him preferable to little numbers. Before Truman, it was assumed that Franklin D. Roosevelt was the biggest spender this country had ever known, but compared with Harry Truman, Roosevelt's spending, except in wartime, was moderate.

Let's look at the figures. Roosevelt's spending from 1933 to 1940 ran thus:

1933	$4,323,150,000
1934	6,370,947,000
1935	7,583,434,000
1936	9,068,386,000
1937	8,261,280,000
1938	7,304,287,000
1939	8,765,338,000
1940	9,127,574,000

Then came war expenditures, which reached an all-time high of $100,000,000,000 in 1945. Wars cost lives and money without stint, for defeat means slavery. So we can skip those war years.

Truman has presented his country with four years of expenditures:

1946	$63,714,000,000
1947	42,505,000,000
1948	37,728,000,000
1949 (proposed)	29,669,000,000

In a word, Truman's peacetime budget runs between three and four times more than Roosevelt's highest peacetime expenditure.

Hidden Items

It is true that Truman has to carry the load of the continuing cost of war, interest on the public debt of $256,000,000,000, cost of veterans, and the cost of keeping an army in all parts of the world. Also, Truman inherits all the costs of Teheran and Yalta, which means this cold war that Russia is waging against us. But items are hidden in his budget which are unrelated to these costs and which are put in to make the budget high.

Apparently, Truman believes that high government expenditures prevent inflation. He said so, but there is no statistical or clinical evidence that that is true. Inflation inflates worse when the government spends public funds to purchase goods than when competition drives prices down. As a matter of fact, the current high prices are due to government buying, government subsidies, and excessive government exports abroad.

War's Fixed Charges

The fixed charges out of the last war are veterans services and benefits amounting to $6,632,000,000. The interest on the public debt amounts to $5,200,000,000. This $11,832,000,000 is the foundation of all our troubles and ought to give the citizens considerable food for thought. This $11,832,000,000 is more than the total 1940 budget by $2,500,000,000.

In 1940, the national defense cost $1,500,000,000. Then came the war when expenditures naturally rose. For 1948, Truman proposed that the armed forces receive $10,700,000,000; for 1949, $11,025,000,000.

Out of his roughly $40,000,000,000 budget these three items take the load:

Public debt	$5,200,000,000
Veterans	6,632,000,000
Armed Forces	10,700,000,000
	$22,532,000,000

The cost of government is making each individual American poorer every year. The cost of government is working a revolution in American life. It must be cut drastically if we are not to be conquered by our expenditures—a worse conqueror even than war.

The Iron Curtain vs. The Silver Screen

The display of photographs of Hollywood actors has been forbidden throughout the Soviet Union.

Gable's back but Sonya hasn't got him.

One can understand the Russian concern: What could undermine the communal state quicker than a picture, say, of Jane Russell with the simple caption: "All This and Free Enterprise, Too?"

Films themselves have long been banned: After all, the average Russian could hardly be expected to place much credence in rumors of the decadence of democracy after witnessing Gene Autry single-handedly round up a band of rustlers, expose the crooked foreman and rescue the heroine from a runaway stage-coach without missing a single bar of his theme-song.

Of course, a few special American films are shown . . . . such as Gone With the Wind, for instance, to demonstrate just how obsolete is our military equipment.

In fact, in view of the Kremlin's new propaganda line about famine in the U. S., I wouldn't be at all surprised to hear they were importing a few Sinatra epics.

The Hook Is Barbed

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

WITH the blessing and encouragement of Senator Robert A. Taft the more extreme isolationists among the senate Republicans have now banded together in a sort of bloc or junta. Significantly, the immediate purpose of their quiet, unannounced meeting and caucusing during the past days is emphatically not to find the best way of defeating the European recovery program. The object is, rather, to find a compromise which will permit them to vote with Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, and thus maintain party unity in this election year.

They have, in fact, acknowledged to themselves, both isolationism's political danger to the Republicans, noted in this space some days ago, and the strategic strength of Senator Vandenberg's position, herein suggested last week. Personally these men are just as isolationists as they ever were. But politically they have become aware that they are impaled upon a hook, that the hook has very deep barbs, and that getting off the hook will improve the Republican chances next November.

The new movement obviously may transform itself, in case agreement cannot be reached, into a disciplined junta of bitter-enders, who will stop at nothing to tear the guts out of ERP, many of the senators would privately be pleased to do precisely this, so that the risk cannot be ignored.

Some "Tagging Along"

This risk is obviously meant to impress Senator Vandenberg. It would also be very unwise to feel that these men can find any grounds for argument with Vandenberg, even if he is ready to yield a little. About a score of senators—which would include the whole hard core of Republican isolationism — are reported to be chiefly involved, although additional more moderate men may also be tagging along. The flavor of the group is best conveyed by the fact that two of the most active members are the Nebraska senators, Hugh Butler and Kenneth Wherry.

The movement, of course, really derives from the presidential candidacy of Senator Taft. The senators chiefly participating want to see Taft in the White House. They admire Taft, more important still they realize, that Taft's victory would be a triumph for the ultra-conservative Republican wing which they represent. Senator Taft himself has taken no active part in their meeting and caucusing, from a cautious fear that an unlucky outcome might implicate him later on as an isolationist extremist. But Taft, nonetheless, intervened decisively early in the process of coagulation of the Republican isolationists into an organized group. And Taft's influence was responsible for the group's decision to begin by seeking compromise.

It it had not been for Taft, these men would probably have started by issuing one of those statements of undying opposition of which Senator Wherry is the great English prose-master.

Not Just Politics

There is here something more than mere political expediency, as in most of Senator Taft's actions. For the first time in his political career, he has lately taken a little time to study the inwardness of the world problem, discussing it at some length with such men as Secretary of Defense James Forrestal. According to those close to him, he has been a little shaken by the result of his inquiries, accepting at last the impossibility of total American isolation.

Thus he sees the necessity of the ultimate passage of a European recovery program in some workable form, without regard to politics. The political expediency of Taft's new move lies, rather, in his effort to secure the company of all the other senatorial isolationists. He wants to avoid a solitary renunciation of his former position. If all the isolationists act together, it will tend to obscure any inconsistency with Taft's previous statements of policy. It will also leave no reasonable grounds for complaint by Colonel Robert R. McCormick and other Taftites of his kidney. Like every other political leader, wise and unwise, Senator Taft has a hankering to have his cake and eat it too. In his case this hankering inevitably takes the form of a hankering both to have his Illinois delegates and to get off the isolationist hook. The hook has become considerably more painful since the recent test polls of presidential aspirants.

Mice Take His Beard For a Thatched Roof

The old man calmly took the mouse out of his beard and gently placed it on the floor so it could scamper away, telling the grocer:

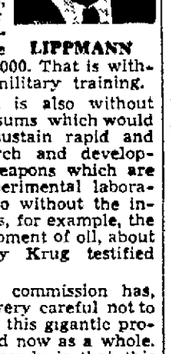
Safety Through Air Force

By Walter Lippmann

THE main recommendation of the President's air policy commission, of which Thomas K. Finletter is the chairman, is that we should start at once to make the air force capable of delivering a sustained assault at long range upon the industrial centers of the Soviet Union.

The commission has found that under present conditions—that is to say, while the country is at peace—the development of such a striking force could be accomplished in about four years and would call for additional appropriations of about $24,000,000,000 over and above what we are now spending on the Army, the Navy and the air force.



LIPPMANN

If we assume that the Army and Navy are not to be reduced while this strategic air force is being created, then for the five years 1948-1952, inclusive, our military expenditures will be over $75,000,000,000. That is without universal military training.

Apparently it is also without the very large sums which would be needed to sustain rapid and intensive research and development of new weapons which are now in the experimental laboratories. It is also without the industrial measures, for example, the synthetic development of oil, about which Secretary Krug testified this week.

The Finletter commission has, however, been very careful not to recommend that this gigantic program we adopted now as a whole. What it recommends is that this program be begun this year and that at the end of the calendar year 1949—that is two years from now—it should be reviewed. It is, therefore, in fact, a two-year program which would cost about 5,000,000,000 extra.

If this program is adopted now, we shall be in a position two years hence to proceed with the creation of the great air force. If it is not adopted now, then two years hence it will take two years longer before we could, without reimposing war controls, have in being such a force.

Thus the commission is recommending that we lay immediately the foundations of an air force capable of dominating the centers of Soviet power, and that having laid the foundations, we review the situation—particularly our relations with Russia—two years hence.

If they are decidedly better—as would be the case if a German peace treaty were in sight which provided for the evacuation of the European continent by all the armies of occupation—the tempo of the development of our strategic air power could then be reduced. If on the contrary our relations have become worse, we shall be technically prepared to accelerate the tempo of development.

Sound Proposal

This is, it seems to me, a sound and a wise calculation if we can assume—a subject which the committee could not go into—that long-range air power is treated as one element in, and not as a substitute for, a well-conceived and well-supported policy designed to bring about a settlement of the German war we have just fought and of the cold war with Russia we are now engaged in. This air force is not an alternative to the European recovery program. Seventy combat groups of airplanes will not give us peace or security or prosperity or protect the liberties of men if the great nations sink into squalor and disorder.

Nor is the strategic air force in itself a military panacea in the immediate diplomatic conflicts around the periphery of the Soviet orbit. For while it is the most certain way available to us of creating an effective balance of power against the use of the Red Army as an instrument of direct and open aggression, a long-range air force with atomic bombs cannot be employed effectively to exert diplomatic pressure in the cold war.

For the trouble with strategic air power is that weapons of annihilation can be used only as a last resort in total war. In all the intermediate phases of diplomacy and local and indirect conflict, as for example in the Balkans today, the weapon is too powerful to be used. For a weapon can be too powerful to be effective for its purpose: A traffic policeman with a 16-inch gun would not be an efficient traffic policeman.

In the actual situation today and for the two-year period to which the Finletter commission's recommendations apply, the creation of the strategic air force is the best measure of security we can take so that the Kremlin will not consider using the army to invade western Europe and the Middle East. But for dealing with Tito, Markos and company—at Trieste or in the Greek mountains, the Navy, now in the Mediterranean, is a much more suitable, and therefore immediately the most effective instrument to restrain, to warn, and to police.

Place of Navy

For the modern American navy is a combination of all arms—but on a manageable scale in a period like this one: When diplomacy requires enough of a show of force to make it convincing but not such tremendous force that it would never be used unless diplomacy had failed completely.

The American navy in the Mediterranean fits these specifications. Its air power, which is far short of a great air force with atomic bombs, is nevertheless quite capable of dominating Belgrade, Sofia, or the lines of communication into northern Greece.

Its little army, the marines, is capable of making a landing to show clearly that our warnings are serious. And the navy is, of course, capable at any time of controlling ships at sea and any port, and any peninsula, and any island.

The fact that it can act without exterminating great masses of innocent people means that it is all the more likely to act. It can act if treaties and obligations are vio-

The Stalled Train Prisoner

"A commuter who runs a butcher shop has sued a railroad claiming that the delay during a snowstorm constituted imprisonment, incarceration and unlawful detention"—News item.

Q.—Now then when did you get on this train?
A.—At half past six in the evening.
Q.—And what time did you get out?
A.—Three the next morning.
Q.—You are a butcher; why didn't you cut your way out?
A.—It was a chopless Tuesday.

Q.—When this train became stalled in the snow what happened next?
A.—The same thing that always happens when a railroad train comes to an unexpected stop anywhere.. the crew froze up harder than the switches and adopted an air of great reticence.
Q.—Did you ask what the situation was?
A.—I did.
Q.—How did you frame your question?
A.—With all the other passengers I demanded, "What is the situation up ahead and how's chances of getting out of here?
Q.—What was the reply?
A.—The trainmen went into a huddle and refused to answer on the ground it was an unauthorized quiz program with no jackpot.

Q.—Did you ultimately get any response?
A.—Along around the second year of my incarceration a flagman came through and said it was snowing, but that the railroad refused to make it official.
Q.—How long do you say you were on that train?
A.—I was locked up so long I got to be a trusty.

* * *

Q.—What did you do when all hope seemed gone?
A.—I wrote my mother telling her what the visiting hours were.
Q.—You considered the train a prison?
A.—I can prove it.
Q.—How?
A.—By the time I got off I had a prison pallor and had learned basket weaving.
Judge (abruptly)—What is that strange humming noise I hear?
A.—It's me, judge. I keep humming "The Prisoner's Song" from habit. Please excuse it.

Judge—Certainly. I'm a commuter myself. See me in my chambers and we will have a duet some time.

Q.—Now under what circumstances did you get your freedom from this stalled train?
A.—All I remember is that after what seemed the best years of my life the train lurched, the doors were opened and the conductor insisted I had been pardoned.
Q.—Then why aren't you satisfied?
A.—I got no time off for good behavior!

Henry Speaks

I had a little platform—
Some hard work I had done;
When Harry Truman took it
And now I'm out of one.

An eastern commissioner of education thinks it is just ducky to have a Communist teaching in our public schools. He favors, it would seem, the Little "Reds" Schoolhouse.

Henry Morgenthau sold corn short and lost money. How was he to know the campaign speeches would flood the market with it so soon?

It looks as if the Democrats are trying to convince the voters that there is such a thing as a funnel that looks the same at each end.

Lakewood, New Jersey, officials (it breaks our heart) are punishing autoists who do not respect school buses by making them come to schoolhouse and write, "I must not pass a school bus in Lakewood" one hundred times. If this doesn't stop reckless driving their lollipops will be taken away.

On Politicians

By TRUMAN TWILL

A politician is a fellow who spends all his time running for office, pausing now and then for a breathing spell while holding the office he has finally caught up with. But soon he must start running again, which explains the behavior of politicians.

It explains why they wear red suspenders, kiss babies they are not fond of, pose in cowboy hats for photographers, send messages of condolence to people they are not sorry for and develop memorable characteristics, such as wearing a lock of hair over their foreheads.

It explains why they talk as if they were trying to impress an uncertain voter in the back row, mingle with the boys even though the boys may give them a big fat pain in the neck, attend county fairs with a retinue of admirers, ride in touring cars with the top down and always go to the polls with their wives on election day.

It explains why they never appear in public with their vests unbuttoned, always slow up at the dedications of new buildings, make a special point of remembering the names of unmemorable people, shake hands with a firm grip and a warm smile, consent to appear at dinners when they are not hungry and insist on their wives wearing becoming hats for public appearances.

It explains why they are frequently seen with their arms draped affectionately over the shoulders of geezers whose insides they would like to cut out, make instantaneous statements about issues they have not digested, hold press conferences that don't reveal anything of importance, are careful not to commit overt traffic violations and vote dry while drinking wet.

It explains why they make statements they do not believe, are noted for the sweetness and harmony of their domestic lives, always behave as though they were serving on an important committee, aim to know what is going on in the great game of politics and develop sudden and enthusiastic interest in the welfare of farmers and the underprivileged classes.

It also explains why one of the meanest things anyone can say about anyone else in a country which depends on politicians for the kind of good government it deserves and doesn't always get is, "For my money, he's just another politician," which means he is just another fellow so interested in running for office that he forgets to behave like an ordinary human being.

Not all politicians, fortunately, behave like politicians, which is a darned good thing because if they did no one would be able to trust any politician any further than he could throw one, which is something millions feel like doing when they see politicians behaving like politicians.

Help For a Tragic Problem

The child whose mental growth is retarded is a tragic problem and one which, in the past, has baffled the best efforts of science. In spite of much study, no one has yet been able to find out, in the great majority of cases, why the intelligence fails to develop.

Today, however, we have a most promising clue to possible causes in work done by Dr. Frederick T. Zimmerman and his co-workers of Columbia University. They find that the intelligence and behavior of some retarded children may be greatly improved by giving a substance known as glutamic acid, which is an amino acid, one of the substances that make up proteins.

The preparation may be given by mouth in the form of a tablet, powder, or capsule, three times a day. The dose varies, depending upon the extent of the difficulty. In finding the proper amount for each case, the dose is gradually increased until the child becomes distracted or uncooperative. When this happens, the dose is then decreased until the child's behavior is more normal.

Sixty-nine children, varying in age from sixteen months to seventeen years, were observed over a period of six months. Before they received the glutamic acid, more than one-third of the children had convulsive disorders, and two-thirds were mentally retarded. Before they received the preparation, thorough intelligence tests were given. It was found that during the six months of treatment, the entire group gained thirteen months in mental age, or an average of seven points in intelligence quotient or I. Q. When the intelligence quotient was quite low before treatment, a gain of a year in mental age occurred.

The parents of these youngsters also reported better behavior. For example, one child nine years old, whose intelligence quotient went up from 69 to 87, learned to jump rope, bounce a ball, become interested in her school work, and started to read. A boy of sixteen, who was a bad behavior problem, began to get along better in school and became interested in many activities, while his intelligence quotient went up from 50 to 66 in the six-month period.

A general improvement in personality also seemed to have been made by the group.

Just exactly how the glutamic acid acts has not, as yet, been determined. However, it is believed that it may have something to do with the chemical called acetylcholine in the brain.

Before the glutamic acid is administered, the child should be carefully studied to determine whether there is a possibility that such treatment will be beneficial.

For years we have been able to help a certain type of backward children—those whose mental defect is caused by lack of thyroid secretion. If their condition is discovered early and treatment begun at once, they develop normally. It may be that glutamic acid will aid another, and even larger group, of handicapped youngsters.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who Are We, Anyway?

Subject came up at Bill Webster's, the other day, as we were chatting over beer and pretzels. Just who are the folks who make up our town? Where'd they come from?

Well, Doc Hollister's Scotch-English ancestry; Will Dudley's folks were mining stock from Pennsylvania; Skip Powell's family were brewers back in Holland.

Guess our bloodstream's got a bit of every country of the globe—and every section of America. We've still got differences in taste and background—whether they apply to music, history, or beer. Only those differences don't matter—because we're self-respecting people, in a free, united land.

And from where I sit, that's what makes our towns and cities—our America—so strong, progressive, tolerant. Our championship of individual liberties has brought us people from all faiths, all lands—to prove that respect for one another's rights is the greatest bond humanity can know!

UN COUNCIL TOLD OF INDIA WAR THREAT

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 15—India told the United Nations security council today that a full-scale war with Pakistan may develop unless the UN takes measures to halt fighting in Kashmir.

Delivering the opening speech in support of India's charges against Pakistan, the Moslem dominion, Minister Gopalaswami Ayyangar contended that "there is at this very moment a small war going on in Kashmir."

He declared the situation was growing "graver with every day" and then added:

"It is of the highest importance that action for the stoppage of fighting...should be taken with specific expedition, not only for saving life, property and honor but also for the purpose of avoiding the risk of a war between India and Pakistan which the compelling necessities of military action might any day precipitate and make inevitable."

Ayyangar addressed the second 1948 meeting of the council and the first one to which the Soviet Ukraine, a newly elected member, has assigned a delegate, Vassily A. Tarasenko was named to the Ukrainian seat and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton was nominated to begin sitting for Canada. Dr. Jose Arce of Argentine, the third new nation on the council, was present at the first 1948 meeting last week.

Ayyangar specifically asked the council to persuade Pakistan to:

1—Prevent Pakistan government personnel, military and civil, from participating in or assisting the invasion of Kashmir;

2—Call upon other Pakistan nationals to desist from taking any part in the fighting;

3—Deny to the invaders access to and use of its territory for operations against Kashmir, military and other supplies, and all other kinds of aid that might tend to prolong the present struggle.

Sled, Train Tragedy Ruled an Accident

By The Associated Press

WAUSEON, O., Jan. 15—Coroner H. Milton Warner returned a finding of accidental death today in the tragedy that struck 10 children from three Archbold families Jan. 4 when a speeding passenger train rammed a tractor-drawn bobsled.

Warner held an inquest Monday at which witnesses testified they did not hear the train's whistle until almost the moment of the accident. D. O. Sherer, the train engineer, testified he had been blowing the whistle for a greater distance than required.

Jesse Eyse, driver of the tractor, testified at the inquest that he failed to look for a train before driving onto the tracks and that he did not hear the train whistle until he was upon the track.

RED SCHEME TO WRECK MARSHALL PLAN CHARGED

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Jan. 15—British and American officials studied today a reported cominform scheme—identified as "Protocol M"—for smashing the Marshall plan and crippling the industrial Ruhr. The anti-Communist German press, which published the alleged Communist program, denounced it as a proposed "putsch."

Details of the plan, first published by the French-licensed newspaper Der Kurier late yesterday, said the program, brought to light in western Germany would be coordinated by the cominform—the Communist "information agency" set up by Communist leaders of nine nations in Poland last fall—and supported fully by the Soviet union.

There seemed little inclination in either british or American official quarters to doubt the authenticity of the plan.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 888 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people 888 Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of 888 Tonic from your drug store today. 888 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

GOP TO SHELVE TRUMAN BILL

Paste "File and Forget" Tag on President's Proposed Income Tax Cut.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Republicans today pasted a "file and forget" tag on President Truman's proposal for a "cost of living" cut in income taxes balanced by a new excess profits levy on corporations.

With even key congressional Democrats showing little enthusiasm for the White House plan, the majority leadership signaled instead for action on a measure by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) to reduce income taxes $5,600,000,000 a year, mainly on a percentage basis.

The house ways and means committee which Knutson heads was summoned to take up his bill tomorrow. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder was invited as the first witness.

The President's proposal went before congress late yesterday after he conferred at the White House with Reps. Doughton (D-NC), Cooper (D-Tenn) and Dingell (D-Mich), all members of the ways and means committee.

Introduced By Dingle

To the surprise of many it was introduced by Dingell instead of Doughton, who is house manager of tax matters for his party and headed the committee when Democrats controlled congress.

"I wasn't ready to take a position," Doughton told reporters. "I wasn't consulted before the bill was drafted."

Senator George (D-Ga), Democratic leader on tax legislation in the senate, said "No comment" when asked what he thought of it.

The measure would:

▶ Give each taxpayer a flat $40 a year reduction for himself and each dependant dated back to Jan. 1. Thus a man with a wife and two children would pay $160 less in 1948. This would remove 10,300,000 persons from the tax rolls and reduce the taxes of 44,200,000 others.

▶ Recoup the $3,200,000,000 loss of federal revenue by a new 75 per cent profits tax on corporations. Corporations with profits of $50,000 or less would be exempt. Others would receive an exemption of 135 per cent of their average 1935-39 profit plus $50,000.

A corporation with an average net income of $100,000 in the 1935-39 period would figure its exemption by adding 35 per cent, making $135,000, and then another $50,000, bringing the figure up to $185,000. The 75 per cent tax would be levied on any profits above $185,000.

Taxes on profits of new corporations would be measured by a capital investment formula.

GI AID PROMISED

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—House GOP leaders have promised early consideration of rising demands by veterans for a boost in living allowances for GI scholars. Rules Committee Chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) said the issue would be laid before the house steering committee promptly, possibly sometime today. The steering committee includes most top Republicans.

Senator Cain (R-Wash), chairman of a banking subcommittee on rents, today announced plans for the hearings. He said rent administrator Tighe Woods will be among the first day's witnesses.

Ask Orphanage Probe After Child, 3, Dies

By The Associated Press

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 15—The death from scalding of a three-year-old child in the Tuscarawas county Children's Home was advanced today by institution trustees as the reason they asked Prosecutor Bernon Lee to investigate operation of the home.

Coroner D. M. Cermella said the child was scalded by hot water and steam from a washbowl faucet turned on by another small child. He returned an accidental death verdict, but criticized the home operators for not disconnecting the hot water system from a steam boiler. The child died last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hodel supervise the home.

JUNKMAN, 72, HELD AS COUNTERFEITER

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—A tiny, wrinkled 72-year-old junkman was held today by the secret service who said he was "one of the most successful counterfeiters in history."

Treasury operatives said Edward Miuller, who came to this country from Austria when he was 14, had passed fake $1 bills in New York for 18 years.

He had eluded them, the agents said, because of his modest wants. He lived in a junk-laden $25-a-month apartment. He wore cast-off clothing. And he never passed more than $15 worth of the counterfeit bills a week, they said.

Miuller was arrested yesterday after neighborhood boys found counterfeit bills and engraving plates among trash firemen threw out of his apartment while fighting a blaze.

The secret service said the fake $1 bills began appearing in December, 1932. Since then, some 7,000 have been turned in by tavern owners and subway change makers. Authorities said the bills seldom turned up twice in the same place.

Miuller, wearing several layers of clothing when arrested apparently felt there was nothing very unusual about counterfeiting, treasury agents said. He asked whether he would be free to go about his work by Monday.

Authorities said they found printink ink, parts of a handpress, photographic negatives of Federal Reserve notes and a plate for $1 bills in Miuller's apartment.

They speculated that the high cost of living may have been forcing the junkman to think of shooting for bigger game — for among the junk were found two unused negatives for $10 and $20 bills.

TRAFFIC FINE SUSPENDED

David R. Heacock of near Cardington was fined $25 and costs on a plea of guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle. The fine and costs were suspended. Heacock was cited last Saturday and posted $25 bond for his appearance in court. A previous report in The Star that his bond was $100 was erroneous.

OHIO MAN HEADS PARTY COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, a former coal mine mule driver whose formal education stopped at the third grade, took over today as chairman of the Democratic congressional committee in the house.

The Youngstown Democrat, now in his sixth term, was unanimously elected to the post last night by the committee, which consists of one Democrat from each of the 32 states having one in the house. He succeeds the late Rep. Drewry of Virginia.

Rep. Bulwinkle of North Carolina was elected vice chairman to succeed Kirwan.

As chairman in a national election year, Kirwan will play an important role in Democratic efforts to elect members of the party as congressmen and will supervise spending party funds in their campaigns. All 435 seats in the house will be at stake in the November election, Democrats now hold 186.

The chairmanship has been held in recent years by a member of the strong southern Democratic bloc.

Kirwan, 60, is a native of Wilkes Barre, Pa. His father was an Irish coal miner. Before settling down in Youngstown 30 years ago, he had worked on railroads, and in oil fields and lumber camps on the west coast. He was a machine gun sergeant in the first World War and says he got his education in the field of hard knocks.

He was a city councilman in Youngstown for four years until elected to congress for the first time in 1935. He has been reelected each term since.

A strong supporter of labor, Kirwan, himself, took part in five major strikes.

Name of Senator's Wife On New List of Cotton Traders

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—The name "Mrs. Edith Thomas" turned up on a new list of 5,651 cotton traders today as senators investigating commodity speculation continued their study of transactions by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla).

The senator's wife is named Edith. When the same name appeared on a similar list last week Thomas said his wife has her own money and trades in commodities.

He said he, too, has dealt in stocks and commodities but has never used any "inside" government information.

Mrs. Thomas declined to comment.

Later Thomas furnished a senate appropriations subcommittee headed by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) with a memorandum of his own trading.

Asked by newsmen today whether the committee will invite Thomas to appear as a witness, Ferguson replied: "All I can say is that we are studying the memorandum."

The committee has taken secret testimony from several men who said they were commodity traders and friends of Thomas. Asked whether they will appear at public hearings later, Ferguson replied "we do not announce the names of witnesses unless we are going to hold an open hearing."

The only open hearing now scheduled, is on Jan. 23, when Republican presidential aspirant Harold E. Stassen and Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall, are slated to be heard.

MRS. EDITH THOMAS
Declines to comment

The committee made public late yesterday the record of its closed-door investigation of trading by John Kerr Rose, a library of congress employe who helped write a world food report for the special house committee on foreign aid headed by Rep. Herter (R-Mass).

Rose said he made a dozen or more transactions in the commodity markets in 1947, most of them in oats futures, and he said he suffered a net loss of $1,744.75.

In Memory Of

*Mrs. Lulu Holtsberry who died Jan. 15, 1942.

There is an angel who bears a light.
And he comes at the close of day,
When the sun goes down on a well-spent life
He lights up the last dark way,
And he whispered, "Tired one, give me thine hand,"
And with spirit brave and steady
Mother faltered not from the unknown land,
But answered—"I am ready."
In our homes she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name;
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death just the same.

OHIO WRITER'S BOOK STIRS UP RUSSIANS

Special to The Star

ADA, O., Jan. 15—Publication of a Russian translation of "American Political Parties," written by Dr. Wilfred E. Binkley, head of the political science department of Ohio Northern university has provoked a controversy in Russia, according to Joseph Neuman of the Moscow Bureau of the New York Herald Tribune. The translation, published by the Soviet State Publishing House of Foreign Literature, was denounced by "The Literary Gazette." Dr. Binkley was described as "one of the ingrained reactionaries of the Republican party of the United States."

His book was said to correspond to "the bestial ideology of American imperialism." The Gazette continued, "This learned lackey of Wall Street frankly propagandizes the designs of the present masters of America, distorts historical facts, events and names and glorifies American bourgeois democracy."

The Gazette asserted that Professor Binkley falsified the role of Theodore Roosevelt by describing him as a friend of the working classes whereas The Gazette considers him the man who developed the "idea of United States world hegemony."

"Thus in our days," concludes The Gazette, "when American imperialists are striving to impose their power on the whole world, a Soviet publishing house comes forth in the role of propagandists of American imperialism."

Dr. Binkley says that he is gratified at having got the Russians to arguing among themselves.

lated, if plain warnings are disregarded. It is, in respect to the diplomatic problem, a weapon of precision. The big air force is not a weapon of precision. It is usable only in a total war, and in building such an air force, as we should, this is the consideration we must never forget. For if we forget it, we shall not have increased our security, but we shall be repeating the supreme error of powerful states—which is to think that power is a substitute for diplomacy, and that absolute power gives absolute security.

port. By adjusting the windowshade he signaled to a conspirator outside whether the crop would be larger or smaller than expected.

What difference would that news make?

Well, the prices on a commodity market rise in normal times if a small crop is forecast and fall if a huge crop is in sight." A trader who finds out this information in advance can thus buy or sell before the price changes and reap a profit. When he is dealing in hundreds of thousands of bushels, even a slight price change can make him big money.

The outcry over the jiggled windowshade led the department of agriculture to put in a foolproof system to assure that no news of its crop estimates would leak out until they were to be made public.

TO DO THIS the newly-created crop reporting board devised "the lock-up." This is a block-long corridor in the agriculture building which is sealed off the morning monthly estimates of important national crops such as corn and wheat are to be issued.

Guards are posted outside locked doors at each end of the corridor, all the windowblinds are locked down, and the telephones are disconnected. The statisticians then go to work assembling the data. No one is permitted to leave the "lock-up" until the report has been completed and issued simultaneously to news reporters waiting in a guarded room.

Unaware of the restriction, the late Arthur M. Hyde, then secretary of agriculture, tried to leave after signing his first departmental crop report. He had to wait, too. So another time did a man who had an urgent appointment with the president.

A WORKER did get out once when word came his wife had been suddenly stricken ill. But an armed guard accompanied him to the hospital room.

"Since 1905 there has been no leak of any kind," said Jasper E. Pallesen, secretary of the crop control board.

I asked him whatever happened to the man with the windowshade, and he referred me to an information specialist who is making a study of the case.

"The best I have been able to learn," the information man said, "is that he was fined $5,000 after a long trial. But oldtimers in the department say he probably had made $70,000 out of the deal he pulled. He is dead now, but nobody is sure whether he died in disgrace or a millionaire."

HOW MANY windowshades he toyed with before he was caught is unknown, but he pulled at least one other fast trick. Department records show that in June, 1905, he changed the official forecast of 14.9 per cent decrease in the cotton crop to 11.4 per cent.

This apparently suited his speculative purposes better.

"The odd thing was that the final figure at the end of the year showed the actual decrease was nearer 11 than 14 per cent," said the information specialist.

The fellow must have made a deal with the weather, too.

State Soil Experts See Possibilities Of Reclaiming Rich Hardin Co. Scioto Marsh

Special to The Star

KENTON, Jan. 15—The plight of a 25,000-acre farming area which was once Ohio's richest agricultural land, the Scioto marsh in Hardin county, has come to the attention of Leo L. Rummel, dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and newly-appointed director of the Wooster Agricultural Experiment Station.

Mr. Rummel, on a recent visit to the marsh area, was so impressed with the condition of the soil that he told local agriculturists he favors an intensive study of the problem looking toward an expansion of the Scioto marsh experiment station to include intensive experimental farming in this section.

Mr. Rummel was accompanied to Hardin county by others of the experiment station staff and of the college of agriculture faculty.

Produced Onions

The marshland soil in the Scioto headwaters area has been depleted through years of steady production of a limited number of crops, notably onions, and through inadequate attention to erosion.

In the early 1870's, the marsh area was just a huge, mucky lake in western Hardin county. At that time, several growers saw the possibilities there and began drainage projects on a small scale, forming ditches and deepening the channel in the Scioto river headwater section.

As it was drained, the rich, pliable, porous, muck soil was discovered to be admirably suited to the raising of onions. The financial return from this crop (in the years when it was not flooded or blown out) was so great that for 40 years many farmers continued to raise onions, with little or no attention to crop rotation, or other now well known farm conservation practices.

Meanwhile, more and more land was being reclaimed by drainage. The land in the higher sections previously drained received less and less moisture and high winds blew away the fine soil.

During a particularly heavy storm, skies were black and the air was foggy with silt as far away as 20 miles from the marsh area. These "muck storms" still occur during unusually dry periods.

Still Productive

W. W. Bowers, secretary of the National Statistical Onion Growers association with offices in Kenton, says that much of the marsh soil is still producing good crops, although last year only about 400 acres (as against 25,000 thirty years ago) were planted in onions. This is acreage where great care has been taken by the owners to replenish soil fertility, and where attention has been given to proper drainage.

Drainage, he reported, has given way to irrigation on some of this better land.

"Great areas in this marshland now do not produce enough to pay a man to attend it," Bowers said. He stated that in recent years potatoes have been grown with some success on parts of the land, but that there is a large acreage that is practically non-productive.

Plan Meetings

It is this land that is attracting the attention of state agriculture experts, who see in this soil great possibilities as a giant soil reclamation project of sufficient importance to command the state's participation in it.

Meetings are to be arranged in the near future with Scioto landowners and other farmers of the county, together with business leaders from Kenton. These meetings will determine the local interest and the willingness of farmers in the area to cooperate in setting up an experimental farming project, in addition to possible expansion of the present state experiment station in the marsh district.

"Such a project will permit us to study and test the best possible means of restoring this once-rich land to full production," Mr. Rummel said.

Letters from Our Readers

WHO WOULD ATTACK US?

Editor of The Star: It is well known that war is very profitable to the big business manufacturers of war materials, and at the present time practically everything produced can be used for war. No wonder we have the military placing all of our big industries, like the Power Shovel and the Universal Cooler locally, on a war footing to the point of recruiting reserve units in the plants. To implement this our young men must be militarized.

In spite of the fact that practically all our organizations of the people, such as the W.C.T.U., the various church organizations, the farm organizations, the trade unions, the educational organizations, and the young people's organizations have expressed their opposition to universal military training, President Truman called for it in his message to congress last Wednesday. The only ones who are for it are naturally the big business organizations, such as the Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, the military and the American Legion.

There is a lot of demagogic talk of "national security". Who in the world are in any position to wage war on us? The President has said that the people of the Soviet Union do not want war. Considering the vast number of their people killed, somewhere around 6,000,000, and the enormous amount of destruction of their production and territory, it is not reasonable to think that they would allow anyone to lead them in a war against a country who came to their aid when they were fighting Hitler. The British are relying on our help to keep their people alive. The French are in the same position. I doubt very much if even the German people would take up arms against anyone now. The Greeks and Chinese have their hands full with a civil war, and General MacArthur has the Japanese under his thumb. We have just concluded a pact with the Latin American nations. Who is left who would attack us with our enormous production and the possession of the atom bomb?

We have the United Nations, which could be made to work if we used the principle of Big Power agreement instead of bickering for majority blocs. I believe that the peoples of the world, including the American people, desire such agreement. We certainly do not want war, even though we have had no experience of the physical impact of war, such as our boys have in the war theaters of the world. Why then should our young men be militarized?

No nation is going to spend eleven billion dollars or more to train and equip millions of men for war without using them. Hitler did. Japan did. Italy did. It will lead America down the same path. If our big business interests are embarking on the path of empire let them consider the fate of empires. The British Empire is cracking up, and Wall Street interests are helping it towards its downfall. Mussolini's empire was short lived and so was Hitler's. The peoples of the 20th century know what colonialism and empire mean. They want no part of it any more. They want to determine their own destinies. We ourselves did it in 1776.

It is now two years since we finished a war against the most vicious and brutal forces of fascism; and instead of working to make the peace a permanent one, we have been subjected to a propaganda of hatred and fear which reminds us of Hitler Germany. There has been very little peace talk, but plenty of war talk here practically ever since VE day.

It is high time the people began to express themselves about this matter more forcibly than they have thus far. It is encouraging to find our ministers, truly following in the footsteps of the Prince of Peace, and others taking up the cudgels for peace by opposing universal military training. Let us all add our voices to theirs, and let our lawmakers know that that is one law they shall not pass. Remember, this is 1948, and an election year, and we have a choice!

Geo. Washington P.-T.A. To Buy Movie Projector

A meeting of the George Washington school P.-T.A. was held Tuesday night at the school with Dr. C. E. Hershey, president, in charge. It was decided to purchase a movie projector to replace the one stolen recently from the school. Plans were also made to have a "fun night" program in February at the school to raise money for various projects.

Devotions by Mrs. Wayne Roush opened the program. The Eastside Mothersingers presented three numbers, "Just a Lullaby," the official theme song of Mothersingers groups, "Wishes" and "Hail Ohio," written by Mrs. Faye Mouser. The chorus is directed by Mrs. Warren J. Wise. To close the program, three motion pictures on wild life were shown by O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, game protector.

Fuel Oil Picture Brighter in Marion

A. A. Stanbaugh, vice president in charge of sales for the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, held out a bright hope to Marionites whose homes are heated with oil when he announced that because of expansion of deliveries of fuel oil by his company from the new Tiffin terminal, sufficient fuel oil to supply local homes will be available through the winter.

He attributed the company's ability to accommodate the present heavy fuel oil demand to the curtailment of gasoline refining last summer in favor of fuel oil production for the winter season.

Mr. Stanbaugh was in Marion Tuesday attending the annual sales conference of the Standard Oil marketing department, Marion division, at the offices on Campbell street. He was accompanied from Cleveland by J. J. Adams, merchandising manager of the company.

Eighteen salesmen and supervisors from the nine counties of the Marion division attended the conference which was called by J. P. Sharkey, division manager.

Aid for Potluck Cooks

SPAGHETTI DINNER . . Quick trick for hurried cooks . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you are the kind of person who is not fazed by unexpected guests for dinner, you probably have a standby or two up your sleeve you pull out at the proper moment.

I have a casserole dish, for instance, that's made out of emergency shelf supplies, and so I'm always sure to have the jars of dried beef, the cans of butter-broiled mushrooms and the package of rice that I need for it in my cupboard. All I do is combine these ingredients with a cream sauce—the rice cooked, of course. Then I season it, put it in a casserole, top it with buttered crumbs and heat it in a moderate oven. Almost any dish can be seasoned a number of different ways, so I allow the seasoning to be whatever's in the refrigerator; green pepper or celery, for instance, or I rely on grated onion and my well-stock herb shelf.

Among the aids to potluck cooks are the packaged mixes on grocery shelves. It wasn't until recently, however, that I tried one of the packaged spaghetti dinners. It comes with spaghetti ready to be popped into boiling water, a bottle of tomato sauce—originally concocted by a knowing chef—that needs only to be heated, and a container of grated cheese. I found this dinner enough for three or four, economical and good.

Half the fun of using these packaged dinners comes from the additions you make to them. Once in a while someone hits on a really inspired idea. With this spaghetti dinner one bright cook I know got a good variation (shown in the accompanying photograph) by adding a teaspoon of grated onion, a tablespoon of melted butter and a quarter cup of coarsely chopped watercress to the spaghetti when it was cooked and turned into a bowl ready to be mixed with the savory tomato sauce and the cheese. If you try this—and it's a pleasantly crisp and flavorsome touch—serve it at once before the watercress wilts.

My sister Phyllis, who works on a magazine part of each week and still manages to give a lot of time to her family and housekeeping never bats an eyelash when there are unexpected guests for dinner. If portions of the main course are going to be on the skimpy side she often adds a hearty soup which she concocts quickly. It's a good-tasting, savory dish quite elegant enough to use any time.

Although this potluck recipe calls for bouillon cubes, Phyl likes to use a rich stock in it, when she has one on hand. She makes the stock from a few beef bones, water, lots of celery leaves, an onion, parsley, and a carrot. This homemade stock really is good and does worlds for any soup or sauce. When Phyl gave me the directions for it she told me to be sure to tell new cooks to ask their butchers for beef bones with marrow in them since they make the richest stock. She says that's the kind of thing cookbooks never say, and a new cook—and lots of older housekeepers, too—just don't know.

Potluck Tomato Soup

1 can condensed tomato soup, 2 cans water and 2 bouillon cubes, 1 small carrot, washed and cut into long shavings, ¼ cup (about) canned whole-grain corn, ½ teaspoon finely crushed dried basil, ½ teaspoon finely crushed dried marjoram.

Mix soup and water in saucepan; add bouillon cubes and carrot and heat slowly; stir occasionally to combine well and dissolve cubes. When not add corn, basil and majoram. Taste for seasoning and add pinch of sugar, pepper and more herbs if desired. Reheat. Six servings.

When I last made this soup I added the bone from a half-ham instead of the bouillon cubes and we liked the result very much. If you do this you'll probably want to chill the soup, as I did, before serving and skim off any fat. This combination is really a pleasant change from the pea soup with which a ham bone is usually coupled.

How about potluck desserts? Fruit and cookies do well and they can come out of cans and packages. And of course there's always cheese and crackers.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

...u can't have finished in ... time!"

"K." called the protest back ... with flattering unction. "... I am," I told him. "Do ... want me to go into re...sal"

"...ould she?" he asked, plainly ... a bit skeptical, as he turned ... she says shes ready, you can ... on it," my husband assured ... if she studies it any more, ... after she once realizes she has it, she's likely to go haywire. Better go over and rehearse her, checking on your copy. But don't make her go over it more than once."

"Yes, I'm likely to do that," the FBI man said scornfully. "But I'm so lost in amazement that I'm likely to drop my notes."

"Get along with you," my husband said, laughing. "You're wasting time."

"Thanks for the reminder," Mr. "K." shot back. "I needed it."

He rose, and came over to me, holding out his hand for the notes. Then he drew a chair opposite me and sat down.

"Go ahead!" he said.

I closed my eyes and recited the notes. When I opened them at the final word, he was regarding me with a heady look of somewhat awed admiration.

"You are certainly something," he said. "You caught on to what I was doing with that word 'See?' didn't you?"

"How do you know?" I countered, puzzled.

He looked at me curiously.

"Because you stressed the words between each set of 'sees's." he said. "Those are the words of the code message, with the rest camouflage."

"I gathered that," I told him, smiling, "and may I tell you that it was very clever camouflage."

"You honor me," he said, flushing like a school boy. Then he spoke hurriedly.

"Will you repeat, please, the instructions I gave you about the procedure to be followed when you have finished repeating this?"

I sent my memory back, and repeated what he had told me to say as soon as I should have finished the notes, and the way in which I was to substitute the FBI man for myself and him for me, in the ensuing conversation.

"Letter perfect!" he said, when I had finished. Then he looked around the room in puzzled fashion.

"I do not see the telephone," he said.

Dicky laughed, and Philip, rising, went to a beautiful piece of wall tapestry reaching from the ceiling to the floor, and drew it aside carefully, displaying the door of a very modern telephone booth.

"This is used for emergency only," he said. "There is one connected with the switchboard masked with a tea cozy on the small table next the big library table."

"Most intriguing," the FBI man commented, waving me toward the booth, and in a minute more I heard Lillian's voice.

"Oh, Madge!" she said. "We were wondering what had delayed you."

"Listen with all your ears," I told her, trying to make my voice playful. "Will you get Father to the telephone as quickly as possible, and will you ask him not to say anything until I have finished talking?"

"Of course," she said with her usual comprehending efficiency. "He'll be here in two seconds."

He must have been near the telephone, for I heard his voice almost immediately.

"Margaret?" he asked. "Tell me what you wish, my darling," and I plunged immediately into Mr. "K." message.

SCHOOL OF RELIGION ENROLLMENT GAINS

50 More Attend for Second Night of Classes.

An increase of 50 in enrollment at the Marion County School of Religion Monday night brought total registration to approximately 250. Nearly 300 attended the forum hour following class period when Dr. L. C. Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace college at Berea, spoke. The school opened a week ago Monday night at First Evangelical and Reformed church and will continue with four more Monday night sessions there.

Dr. Wright spoke on "Teaching Children," stressing three main points, adults beginning to "share" religion with children at a very early age, lives of children unfold "from within outward," and importance of not talking religion "at" a child, but teaching by example. He recommended the parents preparation for instructing in religion even before the child is born. In developing religion in childhood, he stated, two words of importance are "instruct," which means "to construct within," and "inform," which is to "form within," with the aim of this education "to lead out into goodness and beauty of personality." Parents and teachers, he said further, need to live religion so that changes will be brought about in the individual lives of children. Education talked-down pre-conditions people for crime. Religion must be vital. There can be no substitute for it. Children must be taught that religion is real."

As the motivation for vital teaching of religion he quoted, in closing, the words of Christ to His disciples, Lovest thou me? Feed my lambs." It was announced that further registration for the school will be accepted, but no class credit may be given.

22 TURN OUT FOR GOLDEN GLOVE TRAINING

Hopefuls Start Workouts For March 15-19 Fistic Tourney

Last night twenty-two boys donned boxing togs at the Y.M.C.A. as training got officially underway for boys interested in entering the annual A.A.U. Golden Gloves district boxing tournament. The tournament will be held in the Armory beginning March 15.

After a brief introduction by Joe Yannitel, chairman of the tournament, on the methods to be employed during training for the manly art, the boys settled down to a regular routine of rope skipping, shadow boxing, and punching the light and heavy bags. They finished the two-hour training period with three fast rounds in the ring.

Joe Yannitel and Jack Lewis supervised the training and refereed as the boys turned to with plenty of enthusiasm and a will to learn the finer points about the fistic game.

Only 2 Are Experienced

Of the twenty-two hopeful pugilists reporting for training last night, Ernest Arcuri and Eugene Hunt are the only ones possessing much previous experience.

Arcuri, fighting in the light heavyweight class, first fought in 1943 and won the welterweight crown in Marion. In 1944 he fought in the welter class and won the runner-up trophy, and in 1945 he was runner-up in the middleweight division. Arcuri was in the service during the '46 and '47 tournaments. The other boy with previous experience is Eugene Hunt who won the paperweight division championship in 1946.

Others training at the Y.M.C.A. last night were: Lawrence Clinger and Howard Augustine, paperweights; Benjamin Bosh, John Obenour, Kenny Chevalier, Richard Obenour, Joe Davis and Richard James, featherweights; Howard Jones and Raymond Holycross, lightweights; Jim Long, Leroy Lumpkins, "Buck" Rogers, Willard Dixon, Jack Sekinger and Basil Arcuri, welterweights.

Earl Baseler, George Middleton, Verden Lehner, and Jim Arnold are middleweights. Ernest Arcuri is the only lighheavy to report thus far.

Many Others Expected

Robert Kraner said that many other boys would come in from surrounding towns during the tournament in March.

Joe Yannitel, former finalist at Chicago, emphasized to those taking part in the glovefest that hard work and faithful training will be necessary if anything is to be gained from the training periods now in progress. Reporting time at the Y is at 7:30 Monday, Wednesday and Friday night.

Officiating in Ohio U.-Kentucky Tilt Ruined Game, Rupp Charges

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, O., Jan. 15—Ohio university's athletic director, Don Peden, said today he can't understand why Adolph Rupp, Kentucky basketball coach, is so unhappy about the officiating in Monday night's game here. Kentucky won, 79-57.

Rupp, whose quintets are perennial national title contenders, charged last night in Lexington, Ky., that the "officials blew enough wind through their whistles to fill a zeppelin."

He said 41 fouls called against Kentucky were the most ever whistled against one of his teams in 18 years of coaching the Wildcats. Then he jiggled an ear, saying it still rang from the 68 toots that sounded fouls in the game.

Rupp also said he was demanding an explanation from Ohio U., for what he described as a switch in officials. He said Dan Tehan and "Chip" Cain were assigned originally to the game, but Bob Colburn and Dale Rose worked the contest instead.

Peden denied any switch in officials and said Rupp had not asked for an explanation.

"Why, I talked to him after the game, even, and he didn't say a thing," Peden said. "Rose and Colburn appear to be competent officials, although it was the first time I saw Rose work a game."

Both were assigned by David Reese, commissioner of the Mid-America conference, Peden added.

"We never hire officials," he explained. "Of course, we pay them, but they're always assigned by Reese."

Rupp said excessive whistle-tooting was ruining the game, because it interrupted the continuity of organized offensives and reduced games to a parade between the free throw lines.

"Our game with Ohio U with nothing more than a girls' game," he said. "You got the ball and would get set in position, and pr-r-r-r-t! The whistle stopped play. You couldn't touch and you couldn't brush, and you had to be careful the way you looked."

The fans, Rupp continued, "will not put up with it" because "they came out to see a basketball game, not to hear a 'music recital'."

"I don't know what should be done, but it looks like a problem for the officials themselves," he said.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton jr

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—On the same day that the National Collegiate A. A. adopted its celebrated "sanitary" code (last Saturday) the United States Golf association passed a rule concerning college scholarships that is exactly the opposite of the college regulation—and just as sanitary. .. The U.S.G.A. ruling took the form of an example of what isn't permissible under its basic amateur rule which, in effect, asks: "What does the guy get?" ..The answer in this case is that if a golfer, subsequent to his 18th birthday, accepts because of his skill as a golfer "a scholarship or equivalent thereof as an incentive to enroll or continue in an institution of learning," he isn't an amateur...A single exception, made to cover the national caddy championship at Columbus, O., but possibly applicable in other cases, permits a golfer to win a scholarship offered as a tournament prize...It is unofficially explained that there's distinction between beating the field in a tournament and being singled out because of general ability and that the Western Golf association caddy scholarships aren't affected because golfing skill is not taken into account there.

UNDER THE N.C.A.A. code, a boy can accept an athletic scholarship, under certain specified conditions, only if it is granted by the college and the terms printed in the catalogue. Otherwise, if he accepts financial aid from anyone who would not normally provide it (his own family, for instance) he isn't an amateur. That certainly would include a scholarship offered as a prize in a golf tournament.. Fortunately, few colleges give golf scholarships and fewer tournaments offer them as prizes, but if a boy should be caught in the middle, he might have a heck of a time.

CENTRAL JUNIORS TAKE ST. MARY, 31-15

Central Junior High school took a victory from St. Mary Junior High last night on the Armory floor by a score of 31-15. Daum was the big gun for Central with seven tallies, while Krigbaum was high for St. Mary with a six-point total.

St. Mary managed to stay almost even with Central for three quarters as they went into the fourth trailing by only two points, 17-15. But in the final period they were unable to increase their total as the young Central cagers poured fourteen counters through the hoop.

In the first game St. Mary's reserves took Central reserves, 20-15.

THE 35 points Charles Mayers scored for Pleasant against New Bloomington Tuesday night pushed him to within four points of the pace set by Kenneth Comstock of Caledonia, who is leading the league with 136 in seven games. Mayers, who established a league record last year with 210 points in league play, has totaled 132 in the eight games for an average of 16½ a game. It he continues at that clip, he'll end up the league play with a somewhat smaller total than he made last year, while Comstock can break the record in the remaining four games his Caledonia team faces. Kenny is averaging almost 19½ per game and will total 213 in 11 games if he continues the pace . . . Two years ago, Mayers scored 40 points against Meeker to set a league record later broken by Lowell Hensel of Green Camp who corded an amazing 26 fieders and nine charity tosses for 61 points as his team whipped hapless New Bloomington, 82-24, last year . . . New Bloomington netters can't complain about the big ones getting away—their nets have caught 'em all the last couple of years.

THREE OTHER PLEASANT cagers are among the top 15 scorers in the county league . . . Dickason is third with 107, Merchant tenth with 57, and Gorby thirteenth with 53 . . . They'll play at Meeker Friday night in one of the top attractions of a five-game county league card.... Morral, the other unbeaten league quintet, will entertain Caledonia (won six, lost one). Morral has won six games. They have three representatives among the top 15 scorers, Granlee, Weston and McCumber, Weston has 62 points for a seventh place berth, Granlee has 60 for ninth place, and McCumber has 56 to tie with Brocklesby of LaRue and Western of Green Camp for eleventh place.

Other games Friday are Kirkpatrick at New Bloomington, Claridon at Green Camp, Martel at LaRue, and Pleasant at Meeker.

Prospect Cagers Lose To Orange, 48-28

PROSPECT, Jan. 15—Prospect came off second best here Tuesday night as the Orange cagers set them down, 48-28.

R. Jaycox was hot for the Orangemen with seventeen tallies while Long netted eight for the Prospect cagers. The Orangemen dominated the play in every quarter but the third when Prospect dropped eight while Orange was getting seven. In the final period, Orange more than made up for their third period showing as they poured twenty-one points through the hoop.

Orange High's junior Orangemen turned back the Prospect reserves, 33-20.

Kent State Halts Akron's Mid-Season Drive, 54 - 49

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15—Akron's mid-season drive for top-ranking in 1947-48 Ohio college basketball was interrupted last night because the Zippers couldn't keep up with a late-in-the-game scoring flurry by Kent State.

The Zippers, who started the week as the hottest aggregation in the state, appeared well on their way to a ninth straight win until Kent, playing before a home crowd, poured in 19 points in the final eight minutes to win going away, 59-49.

The loss, Akron's second in 11 games, knocked the Rubber City crew out of first place in the Ohio conference. Kent now has won seven and lost two, and is tied with Akron and Muskingum for second place behind Marietta, the unbeaten leader.

Other Games

In other games, Xavier scored its 11th win against three defeats, blasting Miami, 62-50; Ohio Wesleyan turned back invading Baldwin-Wallace, 75-58; John Carroll avenged an earlier loss to Fenn, stopping the Foxes, 58-48; Wilmington cut off the four-game winning streak of Ohio university's Chillicothe branch, 48-37; Otterbein won a 50-48 thriller from Heidelberg; Mount Union whipped Case Tech, 62-51, and Defiance defeated Tri-State of Angola, Ind., 53-52.

Center Malcolm McMullen with 14 points, and forward Chick Boxwell and guard Bob Alston, with 13 apiece, were the big guns for Xavier, which had a 30-22 halftime edge on Miami. The loss was the seventh in 15 games for the Redskins, who were hampered considerably when star center Bob Brown received a cut under the right eye which required three stitches.

Baldwin-Wallace jumped to an early lead over Ohio Wesleyan but once Jack Thompson, Sherry Rowland and Chuck Buttermore found the range the Bishops forged ahead. Thompson, Rowland and Buttermore divided 44 points between them.

An Orange Bowl team boxing match between Syracuse and Miami U. will be staged in conjunction with the 1948 New Year's Day football game.

Browns Get Brugge Draft Rights in Swap

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15—Draft rights to Bob Brugge, Ohio State standout halfback, have been acquired by the All-America conference Cleveland Browns in a swap with the Buffalo Bills for Jeff Durkota, former Penn State star who recently signed with the Browns, the conference champions reported today.

Brugge, who starred with Ohio State in 1944 and 1946 was hampered with injuries most of the 1947 season. The Parma, O., speedster, who recently was married, has another year of collegiate eligibility, but has not indicated whether he will play next season with the Buckeyes.

Durkota was the number one selection on the Browns' draft list this season. He paced the undefeated Nittany Lions in scoring with 10 touchdowns, tallied from his right halfback position.

Buffalo named Brugge the Bills' number five choice in the recent AAC draft. Brugge also was drafted by the Chicago Bears of the rival National Football league.

Double Main Event Booked For Mat Show Tonight

Two top matches will be the feature of the mat show at the Armory tonight. Rex Mobeley and Tony Martingale will have a return match in the one 90 minute feature while Billy Rayburn and Dutch Schultz will feature the other. Last Thursday Mobeley won a one-fall verdict over Martingale in the semi-final of the batfle royal and Martingale has asked for a longer match. Tony showed plenty of class in his first Marion appearance and the fans really liked him.

The match between Rayburn and Schultz should be another top feature for both men are well known here and always give plenty of action. Both matches are for the best two out of three falls.

Herb Williams and Bob Boulton had an argument over their match last week and will return for the ten minute opener this Thursday starting at 8:30. Prices — 50c, 75c, with the ringside at $1.00. Call 2745 after 6 p. m. for your ringside.—Adv.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15—Philadelphia bowlers, for the second straight night, crashed into the national high scoring picture last night when Gaudio Brothers team rolled a 1,238 game—second highest in the country for the 1947-48 season and best this year.

The score—topped this season only by the 1,320 rolled by the W.A.D.C. team of Akron, O.—included a 277 by Andy Yarke, 256 by Tommy Marotta, 255 by Mike Repcick, 225 by Lew Stone and 225 for Johnny Wells.

Might Still Hit A Few Homers For Mack,' Says Hank

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Everybody has assumed that Hank Greenberg is through with baseball.

But Hank himself told this writer today that he wants to play baseball next season.

In fact, Hank intimated that several clubs are on his trail and that he may decide to take one of the jobs offered him.

Asked what particular club he might do business with, Hank replied: "Philadelphia."

One naturally assumed that he meant the "Athletics," and it was further suggested that the Athletics already had an excellent first baseman in Ferris Fain.

Hank quickly acknowledged this but added: "You know, I have played the outfield and I think I might still hit a few homers for old Connie Mack."

It thus became evident that Hank expects to play baseball next season, if not for the Athletics, then perhaps, as he suggested for the Cleveland Indians who need a first baseman about as much as you need your right eye.

Hank drew a trifling $80,000 from the Pittsburgh Pirates last season for whom he played 125 games and drove in 74 runs although he bit only .258.

Hank is only 37 and he is in marvelous physical condition. Baseball men in general believe he would be worth a gamble for any club.

Connie Mack could use more power in the outfield and the Indians could use another first baseman who could power the ball. So use your own judgment.

GALION—Further plans for sponsorship of a city manager form of government for Galion, were discussed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday.

Progress on a study of the city managership plan was shown in a report by Woodrow Crissinger, chairman of the Jaycees committee making a survey of the plan. Citation certificates as rewards for heading Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, during 1947 when membership in the post showed a large increase, were presented Tuesday night to Earl L. West, past commander, and John H. Moore, past adjutant. The presentations were made by J. W. Llewellyn, a past county commander. The certificates were signed by Paul H. Griffith, immediate past national commander.

John V. Ruth, first vice commander, reported a total of 415 members in the post to date and that in the contest now in progress, the Army team leads the Navy team by nine points.

An announcement was made of a sixth district conference to be held Sunday, Jan. 18, at Delaware in the American Legion post headquarters there. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a. m. Plans were made for an auto caravan to leave the Marion post office to go to the meeting at 9 a. m.

Earl Caldwell announced that more men are needed for a rifle squad which is being formed to assist at funerals for returned veterans, and Frank Bowen, chairman of the sick committee, reported on members ill in hospitals.

A Junior baseball committee for 1948 was appointed by John Moore, commander, and is composed of William R. Martin, Craig Rogers, Jewell Ralston, Dr. L. W. Kohlhorst, John H. Mills, Newton Cunningham and L. H. Larsen.

Elton Cates, technician at the City hospital, was guest speaker and talked on the typing of blood to determine the various types and gave the procedure followed in taking tests. An announcement was made to post members that those with Type A blood are urged to report to Mr. Moore, commander, because that type is needed for Charles H. Howard, a post member, who is seriously ill in City hospital.

Mr. Llewellyn related the history of the activities of the American Red Cross Blood Donor Service during the war and outlined the program which is now being formed for the procurement of whole blood for blood banks throughout the country. Plans are underway by the post to form a blood bank here.

At the close of the meeting, a picture, "Crossroads Operations," was shown by 1/Sgt. C. L. Boulware, M/Sgt. O. R. West, and T/Sgt. R. K. Herriott, all of the Marion Army Recruiting office.

A period of silence and prayer by Rev. J. B. Holloway, chaplain, closed the meeting and a social hour followed.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Assorted stocks continued in the recovery column of today's market although many leaders remained apathetic.

Some bidding by professionals for a technical comeback aided favorites. Dealings were slow from the start.

Ahead at intervals were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, American Telephone, North American, American Smelting, Du Pont, International Paper, Johns-Manville, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific. Occasional stumblers were Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, Southern California Edison, Anaconda, American Can, International Nickel, Philip Morris, Standard Oil (NJ) Twentieth Century-Fox and Chesapeake & Ohio.

EISENHOWER RISKS REPUBLICAN BACKING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may risk any chance for the ultimate backing of regular Republican organizations in several states if he fails to stamp out the independent presidential draft movement now underway.

The Army chief of staff has said several times that he has no interest in politics. But thus far he has not otherwise repudiated moves by the Draft Eisenhower league to put delegates into a number of GOP primaries.

While this move has the backing in New Hampshire of Senator Charles Tobey, Eisenhower enthusiasts elsewhere seem likely to be drawn from persons outside of and often at odds with the regular GOP organizations in the states concerned.

As a case in point, one Republican in close touch with the situation said privately that Eisenhower has had a better-than-fair chance for darkhorse support from the powerful Pennsylvania Republican organization at the June Philadelphia convention. But, this party member added, the general may forfeit that chance if he does not disavow immediately a move in his behalf there.

Eisenhower supporters have indicated they also may invade the primary field in such states as Illinois, Wisconsin and Nebraska. In few of these are they expected to find the regular party organization receptive.

There are some indications that the Nebraska primary may develop into a presidential free for all.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen is scheduled as an almost certain entry in the preferential voting there April 13, and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio told a reporter his backers are making a survey and might enter his name. A candidate's consent is not necessary to bring him into that preferential race. It was won by Stassen in 1944.

A single pinch of snuff will anesthetize a turtle for several hours and will kill a fish or snake immediately.
